Canton trustee censured

CANTON—The township board Tuesday censured Trustee Brian Schwall for "reckless, ill-thought accusations" against other township officials over hirings from federal funds.

The vote was 5-1. Schwall himself abstained, and trustee James Poole voted against censure. Supporting it were Supervisor Robert Greenstein, Clerk John Flodin, Treasurer Carl Parsell and Trustees Gerald Cheske and Robert Myers.

Schwall made his charges in connection with the township's receipt of funds under the federal Comprehensive Employment Training Act (CETA). Schwall's seat on the board and right to vote are unaffected.

THE CENSURE motion was made by Myers. It followed Greenstein's criticism of Schwall and the trustee's response that he would appeal a federal ruling handed down last Friday that supported the other township officials' position.

Schwall had filed a formal complaint with the Wayne County Office of Manpower. He contends the hiring of Bruce Phillips as an ordinance officer constitutes a violation of the nepotism section of CETA because Phillips' wife is the township supervisor's secretary and either participated in the hiring of CETA employees or supervised them.

The county agency rejected both Schwall's complaint and a second by Mrs. E.A. Hamann that charged the hiring was a violation of the political affiliation section of CETA.

The reply said Phillips' hiring was legal and the charges unsubstantiated.

The letter said, "An individual should not be denied an opportunity for employment based solely on their having either a political or a personal relationship with any party involved in a political process."

It added that "it was unfortunate for Phillips' sake that the circumstances offer an illusion of impropriety although no overt violations of the nepotism or political patronage sections exist."

The county office's letter said officials at the manpower center and corporate counsel for Wayne County agreed with township attorney William Sempliner's opinion that Phillips' hiring was legal.

GREENSTEIN READ the letter to the public at the end of Tuesday's board meeting and called Schwall's allegations "criminal in nature, inflammatory and unsubstantiated."

Schwall replied, "A cursory reading of the letter shows irregularities in the conducting of the investigation. On the basis of those irregularities I will appeal this to the proper authorities."

He added, "An appeal is certain—it will not be to this board. The attorney's opinion is ill-informed at best. It shows only one side."

Parsell replied that the township officers had done everything possible to get the hirings done under a deadline and that Schwall had been offered the opportunity to participate in the hiring procedure. "If he had spent as much time working on the hiring as he has on substantiating his complaint, we all would be much better off," Parsell said.

Following Schwall's declaration that he would appeal the CETA decision, Myers made the motion for censure commenting, "I have been sitting here for the past two weeks watching

Joy Rd. bridge lights surveyed

CANTON—Who'll pay for the lights on the Joy Road bridge over I-275 — assuming they are installed? That is a question that Canton Township officers have been grappling with for the past several months.

The bridge has been at the heart of a three-year controversy, first started by members of Holiday park subdivision when they realized the bridge might cause traffic hazards.

Residents of the subdivision, located just east of the bridge, and supported by the Canton Township administration, filed suit against the State Department of Highways and the Wayne County Road Commission in the fall of 1973.

They presented 13 specific complaints to Circuit Court Judge John O'Hair, primarily dealing with potential safety problems.

AMONG THEIR suggestions were a traffic light on the east side of the bridge and street lights on the bridge.

Judge O'Hair signed a judgment after the matter had been negotiated out of court. The ruling provided that both Plymouth and Canton Townships would pay for the overhead lights on the bridge (because Joy Road divides both townships).

The judge also ruled that following a traffic survey by Wayne County, a traffic light would be erected on the east side of the bridge.

Following the court judgment, a light was erected at the corner of Joy and Deer Creek drive at the entrance of the apartment complex adjacent to Holiday Park.

In the last two months, however, the matter has been complicated by several actions.

In January, Canton officials were informed by Detroit Edison Co. that it would not foot the bill for the construction of the seven lights on the bridge (at $2,000 apiece).

On Jan. 14, The Plymouth Township Board voted not to pay for any portion of the lighting costs for the bridge.

Canton officials have been investigating alternate methods of constructing the lights and paying for them since then.

ON FRIDAY, Trustee Gerald

Cheske and County Commissioner Royce Smith escorted engineers from both the county and the state to the bridge site. They discussed the problem at length, and Cheske feels there is a feasible solution.

"There's no question they need the lights," commented the trustee. "It is hard to see on that bridge at night. But there are cheaper ways of doing it. We could construct a light at the west side of the bridge and replace the one on the east side with a sodium bulb which is more than two times brighter."

Cheske added that the cost of the conversion of the one light and the erection of the other would be between $500 and $700. "That's a good deal cheaper than $14,000," he added.

On Tuesday, following Cheske's talk with the engineers, Supervisor Greenstein was informed by the township attorney William Sempliner that Plymouth Township must pay for at least a portion of the lighting costs.

The supervisor said, "According to his finding, if they failed to cooperate we could take them to court, but I am sure we can reach a decision without that happening. I think their decision was based on past policy, and perhaps with this new information they would be willing to review the matter."

PLYMOUTH SUPERVISOR J.D. commented, "We have no position on that right now. We have instructed our attorney, Don Morgan, to look into the matter. When he reports back, we will arrive at a decision."

He added, "Our previous policy was not pay for lights on state and county roads. I was not aware that it was our responsibility. I thought it was the obligation of the state. But we may learn differently."

Another issue concerning the bridge has yet to be resolved. According to Cheske, residents of Holiday Park subdivision would also like a traffic light at the intersection of Joy and Holly Drive.

He said, "They want a light that would be synchronized with the one at Deer Creek Drive."

According to the trustee, the county will conduct another traffic volume study to see if it is merited.

PLYMOUTH—After sitting dormant for nearly eight months, plans for a year-around school program in Plymouth have been brought back to life.

Voting unanimously, school board members have agreed to begin a one-year pilot of the "45-15" program at Miller School beginning in July.

Originally scheduled to begin in June of last year, the program was scrapped at the last minute when teachers refused to begin the program before a contract with the Plymouth Education Association had been negotiated and ratified.

When first presented to parents in the Miller School area last year, a majority favored the plan which will have students in school for 45 school days followed by 15 days of vacation.

CANTON— If all goes according to plan, residents of McIntyre Manor Subdivision could have sanitary sewers by mid-October.

That was the word a group of more than 50 residents received from the Canton Township Board last week. The board voted 6-0 to approve engineering plans and proceed with the project that affects 77 homes in the Ford and Sheldon roads area.

"If they put the sewers in this week, I'll make plans to tap in next week. That's how bad I need it," commented one resident just prior to the vote.

Residents of McIntyre have been living with a septic problem for a number of years which has left backyards filled with water during spring, summer and fall.

Sitting in a flood plain with a high water table, the area has a stench from the waste water above the ground which has forced residents to keep their windows closed throughout the year.

The addition of city water several years ago, only served to worsen the problem because the already taxed septic fields were given additional water to hold.

RESIDENTS WERE given hope of relief last year, when the previous township board told them establishment of the Canton-Van Buren Sewer and Water Authority would mean sewers for the McIntyre area. Under plans considered by that board, a $2 million bond issue was to be floated, $600,000 of which would finance the McIntyre project to cover the entire subdivision.

The alternate plan, adopted by the board last week, will cost approximately $224,000 and will only serve current residents of the subdivision. Township Supervisor Robert Greenstein explained that the board's responsibility was to provide sewers for the current residents because of the health hazard in the subdivision. Noting that the area lies in a flood plain area and that it was unlikely further development would take place in the near future because of the problem, the board decided to serve only portions of the subdivision where residents live.

BOARD SECRETARY Marcia Borowski said that when surveyed last year, only 40 students "opted out" of the plan in the Miller attendance area which she said includes approximately 900 students.

Not all of those students are currently attending Miller. Some are currently being bused, because the school can hold a maximum of approximately 675.

"I'd like to be the last to say that it's going to be a smashing success," commented trustee George Lawton, "but I'm completely in favor of it."

"We were sold last year and I think it's an extraordinarily fine program. If we're not satisfied with the program at the end of one year we can

McIntyre Manor will get sewers

stein explained that the board's responsibility was to provide sewers for the current residents because of the health hazard in the subdivision. Noting that the area lies in a flood plain area and that it was unlikely further development would take place in the near future because of the problem, the board decided to serve only portions of the subdivision where residents live.

MANY RESIDENTS argued with the board on the recent hike in the front foot charges from $3 to $9 a foot. Greenstein explained that the previous board had refused to raise the charge in the past and that the $9 fee was closer to the actual cost for laying pipe. In addition to front foot charges, residents will have to pay a $325 fee for a capital charge which covers a portion of the cost of main lines into which residential sewer lines flow. Another $250 will be charged as a connection fee, and $15 will cover the cost of inspection. Those payments will bring the sewer to a resident's property line where he will have to contract for the hookup to his home or do the work himself.

Greenstein explained that residential fees collected would only cover about $100,000 of the cost. The remainder will be paid by residents of the township at large.

WHILE AGREEING to proceed with the McIntyre project, the board has yet to agree on how residents will be charged for front footage. Most homes are on 40-foot lots, and many residents own more than one lot. No decision was reached on whether residents who owned vacant property would be assessed front footage on portions of the sewer line that passed their properties.

The board told residents it would take at least two months to determine the charges for residents on the McIntyre project and to complete plans on seven other sewer projects that will be included in a bond issue to finance the construction. Following that point in time, township engineer Glen Roberts estimated it would take another four to six months for financing to be approved by the Municipal Finance Commission. Roberts said actual construction of the sewers would take another one or two months after approval by the MFC.

Citizens draft plans for Advisory Council

By RICHARD GOLD

CANTON—Interested citizens again met to discuss the role, purpose and responsibilities of the township's second citizens advisory council—and they arrived at a final draft to present to the township board.

The new council has not been formed yet, and ideas have been discussed for several months on what direction and form the council should take.

On Feb. 20, several of the approximately 15 residents actively involved in the project showed up at the meeting with a proposal that was accepted by the others present.

The rough draft (which has been presented to the board) says the purpose of the new council will be "to act as a medium of communication between the local unit of government and the citizens of the community."

Its responsibilities will be to survey the community attitudes, evaluate them, and report on the findings.

Lynn Goldsmith, one resident presenter, suggested the best use of the information collected from a survey would be to influence budget allocations. She suggested that survey data to be used to set priorities are in Canton.

Commented Township Planning Consultant Mike Manore, who has chaired the meetings, "The best way for citizens to influence government and accomplish anything is through the budget."

RESIDENTS also felt the advisory council should act on specific requests received from citizens-at-large in the township. They suggested subcommittees be established when necessary "to study and advise the township board on specific matters."

The biggest problem faced by citizens trying to form the advisory body has concerned selection procedures for the members of the new body.

At an earlier meeting, Manore suggested that "representatives from the large number of organizations that exist in the township today should be enlisted." He suggested a list that included the League of Women Voters, chamber of commerce, the board and planning commission and 13 homeowner organizations representing mo-tile homes, condominiums and single family subdivisions.

Each one of these groups would nominate several persons to serve as representatives to the council, and the board would select one from each group.

WHEN THE COMMITTEE to establish the advisory council met last Thursday they suggested that the council be composed of 20-25 people, selected on a per capita basis from the eight voting precincts in Canton. Other representatives from special interest groups would also be added.

They asked that the board either veto or accept the representatives they select. According to their proposal, the board would not be allowed to pick between several nominees for each spot on the council.

If the board approves those guidelines for the new council, it is possible that the new advisory council could be formed in time to draw up an attitudinal survey that could be incorporated in the upcoming census as an optional segment.

Communities vie for block grant funding

PLYMOUTH—Canton Township Supervisor Robert Greenstein will chair a public hearing and meeting of an advisory council that will determine where and how $750,000 available to Wayne County under a federal block grant program will be spent.

The meeting is scheduled for tonight (Thursday) in Plymouth City Hall at 7:30.

The block grant program money previously went to the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) and revenue sharing. The federal aid program was established by the Community Development Act of 1974.

The funds are divided between vested and non-vested interests. Vested interests are municipalities with more than 50,000 persons.

At tonight's meeting, 20 non-vested interests (municipalities) including the City of Plymouth, and Canton and Plymouth Townships will vie for the $750,000 allocated to Wayne County.

Greenstein was elected last week to chair the advisory council that will control the disbursement of funds. The council is composed of 15 people, with 10 representatives from the 20 municipalities, four county commissioners and a county auditor. Among the 10 representing the non-vested is Beverly McAninch, mayor of the City of Plymouth.

According to Greenstein, the money is divided into three categories. Some will be awarded to the municipalities directly on a population basis while other money will be go to specific programs submitted by the various municipalities. Another portion will go to the county.

Greenstein explained that originally the county wanted one-third of the money for various surveys. But the 20 municipalities overruled county representatives and Greenstein now expects the county will receive about 10 per cent of the money for a housing study and to cover the administrative cost of applying for the for the $750,000.

Of the optional money available to the townships and cities with less than 50,000 population, 10 will receive money for specific programs, amounts not to exceed $25,000.

Depending on the actual amount given to the county, the rest of the money will be allocated on a population basis.

County offers little to solve road problems

CANTON—A little relief is better than none at all, and that's what the township got from Wayne County, after Trustee Gerald Cheske, County Commissioner Royce Smith and several county and state highway engineers toured the rough roads of Canton last week.

According to Cheske, they toured Warren Road, Sheldon and Haggerty to illustrate the paving needs of the township.

Said the trustee, "We got some help from them. Following our talk and drive, Warren was graded partially, and a few potholes were filled on Sheldon. But we can't expect too much from them. The county is reluctant to do any major resurfacing of Sheldon because they're going to widen it and repave the whole widened section when the Harvard square construction is complete."

But until that construction is done, says Cheske, "the county will continue to patch Sheldon on an interim basis.

"We also checked to see if Ford Road is going to be widened in the future. It's been widened between Wayne Road and the expressway (275) and we think due to the shopping centers further down the road it should be widened down to Ford Road. The state engineer said he would check on the five year projection program to see if it's included.

Orchestras set preview

PLYMOUTH—As a preview to participation in state district orchestra competition, the Centennial Educational Park Cadet Band and Chamber and Symphony orchestras will present a festival concert at 8 p.m. on March 4.

Under the direction of H. Michael Endres, the Cadet Band will present "Sturdy Men" by Mesang, and "You're a Grand Old Flag" by Cohan.

Endres will also handle the baton at the first movement of Mozart's symphony No. 38 "The Prague." Featured soloist for the orchestra's performance of oboe concerto in C minor by Benedetto Marcello, will be senior Elaine Guregian. Miss Guregian is also a member of the Park Symphony Band and Woodwind Quintet and will attend the University of Michigan in the fall.

Symphony Orchestra selections include "Festive Overture" by Washburn, "Eine Kleine Nachtmusik" for strings by Mozart, and the finale to symphony No. 5 "New World" by Dvorak.

A featured soloist with the Symphony Orchestra will be senior violinist Lisa Toth, who will perform the first movement of the Mendelssohn violin concerto in E minor. Miss Toth will also major in music at a local university in the fall.

Both soloists were selected to perform with the orchestra through competitive audition, according to Endres.

Canton trustee censured

this go on, and I was prepared to forget the whole thing if Mr. Schwall was man enough to admit that he was wrong—but he isn't that kind of man. He's hell-bent on publicity, and he is out only for himself, Brian Schwall, not the township."

Cheske prefaced his seconding of the motion by saying, "I can't believe this thing has been blown this far out of proportion—it's gotten to the point where I wish I had never heard of CETA."

Schwall replied, "As elected officials of this township, we are at all times responsible and accountable to those people who have entrusted us with this position."

"While I regret that I have become the object of vindictive personal attack for exercising that responsibility and accountability, I am willing to pay this price, and will continue to stand up, question, speak against what I consider to be improper. To do less would be an abdication of my legal and moral responsibilities."

Trustee Poole added, "We might as well draw up censure forms and fill in the blanks."

Myers replied, "I am not against dissent or criticism, but I do not condone rash and reckless accusations. If he's going to school, let him do his homework."

Greenstein added, "The real losers in this thing are the people of Canton Township and the taxpayers. We have spent two weeks trying to iron this out when we could have been knocking heads with builders and taking care of the business of Canton."

The supervisor also commented that because of the complaint, all CETA money would be held in escrow and that future funding could be jeopardized.

ART LEWIS, director of the office of manpower for the county, says the appeal will affect only the money paid to Phillips, and even that will not be affected until an appeal decision is reached.

While Schwall refused to say where he would appeal, Lewis thought the action would go to the Federal Department of Labor regional office in Chicago, the office that funds Wayne County.

He commented, "I hope they act quickly to clear the matter up. We don't like to see our grants jeopardized. The investigation could have been more complete, but based on the allegations and materials we received, the work we did was sufficient."

Program to help deaf developed by Madonna

Madonna College in Livonia and Detroit Hearing and Speech Clinic are co-sponsoring a course in manual communication: American Sign Language (Ameslan), the language of the deaf, offered for the first time this term.

Students at Madonna are discovering the world of the deaf through a new course in American Sign Language (Ameslan), the language of the deaf, offered for the first time this term.

AMESLAN is one of eight forms of sign language used by the deaf, explains Robert Ingram, instructor and a consultant for Detroit Hearing and Speech.

Although not taught in schools for the deaf, many deaf learn Ameslan or another form of the sign language from their deaf friends. Ameslan is the third most commonly used language in the U.S., says Ingram.

Ingram adds that sign language is nothing new. "We all use signs and always have."

None of the students now enrolled in the introductory course have hearing problems, nor have families with hearing problems.

"Most are here because they are interested in the language. There are three nursing students enrolled who hope to use Ameslan in their work."

STUDENTS will learn the symbols of sign language through interaction with the instructor and deaf guest speakers.

Beside learning the signs, students are also assigned a project related to their major field of study.

"If a student is in law enforcement, he may do a study of the legal rights of the deaf, or in psychology, he may want to study counseling of the deaf."

Other areas discussed are history of Ameslan, problems of the deaf and agencies where the deaf can receive help.

The course will be offered again during the fall term which begins in September.

"To many, the deaf world is a mystery," says Ingram. "The deaf have many problems and face many barriers. Through courses like the one at Madonna, we hope to eliminate a few of the mysteries and break a few barriers."

ROBERT INGRAM shows his American Sign Language class one of the signs of the deaf.

HITOMI FURUTA, Madonna senior from Yokohama, Japan, learns the signs of a new language the language of the deaf.

Suburbs to meet on new water rates

Wayne County city and township officials will meet in Livonia Friday afternoon, Feb. 28, to discuss proposed water rate increases recommended by the Metropolitan Detroit Water Department staff.

The meeting, expected to start at 2 p.m. in the Senior Citizens' Activities Center, 15200 Farmington Road, was called by Livonia Mayor Edward McNamara, one of three suburban members of the water board.

McNamara said the water department's staff recommended a 35 per cent boost in the wholesale rate which would translate into a $1 per month increase for homeowners.

McNamara, recently appointed to the board by Detroit Mayor Young said he is "extremely concerned by the indication of the water department staff that water and sewer rates must be increased this year."

McNamara feels the raise may not be necessary, based on his own review of the water department budget.

He invited officials from cities and townships in the county to "review the request and determine what action is appropriate to protect our water and sewer rate payers in our respective areas."

The water board has seven members, three from the suburbs and four from Detroit.

Bobo supports patrol for out-county townships

The chairman of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners recently told police from 25 departments that he fully agrees Sheriff's road patrol services should be continued in out-county townships.

Roscoe Bobo's remarks — coming at a time when some county commissioners have been pressing for curtailment — drew an ovation from his audience of some 100 members of the Wayne County Police Lieutenants, Sergeants and Corporals Association.

HIS PERSONAL commitment drew an enthusiastic response from out-county officers who most would feel the additional burden if the road patrol were withdrawn from their areas.

Bobo said the biggest problem facing police today is re-earning the respect of the community. "Give us commissioners your ideas and we'll help you meet that challenge. We can implement your suggestions with proper organizational support and available funding."

Bobo, vice-chairman of the Detroit-Wayne County Criminal Justice Coordinating Council and a former deputy police chief, was later presented a citation of achievement by the police association.

WHEN QUESTIONED on progress being made to build a new Wayne County jail, Bobo said he and other commissioners had just returned from Lansing where they met with majority and minority leaders in an effort to obtain a $30 million loan to build a new jail.

"We plan to repay the loan through sale of the county water plant to the City of Detroit."

Asked if there might be an alternate means of acquiring funds for a jail, Bobo said, "If we find ourselves really boxed in, we believe there is proper legislation available to bond without public approval — a step we might have to take as a last resort.

"We feel that we have made considerable improvement during the past four years in helping relieve some of the stress on the Sheriff's Department. We have reduced the jail population by almost half and nearly doubled the Sheriff's budget and substantially increased the strength of the road patrol."

Michigan has clout

Want to know where your member of Congress packs the most punch?

It's on the assigned committees, both governmental and political, where each member spends the most time and either has or develops an area of expertise.

A representative usually can help his constituents in a number of areas, but his committee assignments are where he has the most influence.

Should you want to comment on a particular state of affairs, here's a list of Michigan's two senators and western Wayne County's three representatives, and their committee assignments:

SENATORS

Philip A. Hart (Democrat): Judiciary Committee, chairman of the anti-trust and monopoly subcommittee; Commerce Committee, chairman of the environment subcommittee; the new Select Committee on Intelligence; the Senate Democratic Policy Committee; the special Democratic committee on energy and the economy.

Robert P. Griffin (Republican): Senate Republic whip; Commerce Committee; Foreign Relations Committee.

REPRESENTATIVES

William Brodhead (D-Detroit, 17th District including Redford Township): Freshman representative on the Democratic Steering and Policy Committee; Post Office and Civil Service Committee; Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee.

Marvin Esch (R-Ann Arbor, 2nd District including Plymouth and most of Livonia): Education and Labor Committee; Science and Technology Committee.

William Ford (D-Taylor, 15th District including Westland, Garden City, Canton Township and part of Livonia): Education and Labor Committee, chairman of the farm labor subcommittee; Post Office and Civil Service Committee; House whip for Michigan.

Area reps vote to repeal limit on arbitration

Representatives from western Wayne County voted with the majority in the State House to eliminate the time limit on the compulsory arbitration for policemen and firefighters act.

The act, which provides for binding arbitration when municipalities and safety employees are in a labor dispute, is due to terminate June 30 this year.

The House passed the bill to extend the duration of the act on Feb. 11 by a 98-10 vote and by a two-thirds vote voted to give the bill immediate effect.

Area representatives approving the bill were: John Bennett (D-Redford); Thomas Brown (D-Westland); Robert Geake (R-Northville); William Keith (D-Garden City); John Markes (D-Westland); and Roy Smith (R-Ypsilanti).

The bill has been referred to the Senate Committee on Labor for action.

Area Bicentennial planners to meet again March 6

The Wayne County Bicentennial Committee at its March 6 meeting will discuss a parade which is conceived as the largest in the world. The committee's second meeting Thursday, March 6, will begin at 8 p.m. in the 13th floor auditorium of the City-County Building in downtown Detroit.

AREA REPRESENTATIVES on the committee, chaired by County Commissioner Ervin A. Steiner Jr. (R-Crosse Pointe), include:

Wayne County Commissioner Mary E. Dumas (R-Livonia), Elizabeth Folger and A.G. Folger of the Plymouth Bicentennial Commission, George R. Raub Jr. of the Garden City Historical Commission, Robie Rushton of the Westland Bicentennial Commission, and Paul Salamy of the Redford Township Bicentennial Commission.

At the county committee's first meeting, Raub reported on plans for a July Fourth parade by Garden City Jaycees to include floats by various groups and schools. The Jaycees have pledged $2,000 for the Garden City parade.

Further programs in Garden City have schools sponsoring essay contests and home economic classes are holding contests to determine which clothes best typify those worn during the colonial era.

STEINER, who proposed the county-wide parade, says: "We in Wayne County put the nation on wheels so we should certainly be able to stage a parade on wheels that is worthy of national attention."

Steiner, who owns a promotion firm that organizes huge events in the U.S. and Europe, says he imagines at least 215 floats accommodating marching bands, and military aircraft overhead.

He proposed the parade for Sunday, April 18, 1976, the anniversary of Paul Revere's historic midnight ride.

The Bicentennial Committee consists of representatives from throughout the county that are planning observances next year. The 50 delegates on the committee represent 18 communities and 90 per cent of the residents in Wayne County.

New way to win $1 million

There is a new way to win $1 million in the Michigan Lottery beginning with the Feb. 27 weekly drawing for winning tickets purchased this week — dated Feb. 18.

The new 50-cent ticket features a six-digit million dollar number atop the ticket. Matching it means automatic entry into a subsequent million dollar drawing.

Beginning with 50-cent tickets dated Feb. 27, winners of weekly $25 prizes can collect cash from the bureau's 8,000 sales agents statewide.

WINNERS of the "check-a-month" bonus (drawing dates March 6, 14) will compete for prizes in a special drawing Feb. 28 at 2 p.m. in Cunningham Drug Store's newest facility at Plymouth and Middle Belt Roads across from Wonderland Center in Livonia.

Names of contestants will be released in advance. Five will win $2,000 a month for 12 months, the next 10 will win $1,000 a month for a year, and additional contestants, if any, will receive $500 a month for a year.

Cunninghams will be promoting the drawing with a special loser's drawing for tickets dated Feb. 27 which didn't win a prize. Those losing tickets can be deposited in a container in the Livonia store before its special 3 p.m. drawing. Name, address and phone number of entrant should be written on the back. Prizes to be awarded include merchandise certificates and free lottery tickets.

IN A RECENT report, the Bureau of State Lottery reported its weekly super drawings have resulted in the awarding of more than $50 million in prizes since the first "super" Nov. 30, 1972.

The Stroller Ingenuity faces the challenge

By W.W. EDGAR

One dreary afternoon, when news was scarce and The Stroller, then a young editor, was pacing the floor wondering what he could use for the main story on the front page, the managing editor called him aside and said:

"Don't worry about it. Human nature being what it is, something will happen."

Sure enough, it did. Within a short time we had a major fire, and a young co-ed was murdered.

Ever since then, The Stroller has come to believe in human nature and places it in the same category as American ingenuity that always comes up with the right thing at the right time—even when things seem the darkest.

THE LATEST EXAMPLE came the other day when a band of learned researchers released a statement at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology claiming that with a few adjustments to the engines used in our present automobiles, gas mileage could be increased at least 50 per cent. And they added that the adjustments would not be costly either.

Imagine that! At a time when the country is caught in an energy crisis and one of the major priorities is the conservation of fuel.

If the researchers are correct, this would mean we would not use as much fuel as we are now when travelling the same distances. That could be a real breakthrough and another example of American ingenuity coming through at the right time.

MENTION OF THIS possibility was made to an official of the State Highway Department over the past weekend, and he not only thought it possible but added:

"Don't be too surprised if we find a substitute for oil in the next 20 years. By that time oil will be used only for lubrication and not for fuel."

Maybe so—but it seems beyond the realm of possibility.

"Well," he countered, "American ingenuity found a substitute for rubber when things were in bad shape some years ago, and we're now using fiberglass and plastics for automobile bodies when we were led to believe that nothing ever would replace the steel body of an automobile. And don't forget, we used to laugh at the thought of using aluminum. But it is being used now, even for bumpers. So don't count out the possibility of a substitute for oil."

American ingenuity has done some wonderful things and helped make possible many things we never thought possible—not too long ago.

IN THE EARLY DAYS of the automobile, when you had to use a crank to start the motor and many an arm was broken when it backfired. American ingenuity, in the person of Charles Kettering, one of General Motors chief engineers, came up with the self-starter. It was one of the things that helped build the automobile industry.

Another fine example, in later years, is the automatic pinsetters in our bowling establishments. Back in the mid-40's the game of bowling was on the verge of fading from the scene for lack of pinsetters. Then along came an elderly gent named Charlie Schmidt from upper New York with a machine that met all the rigid requirements of the American Bowling Congress, and the game not only was saved, but now is the greatest participant sport in the country.

Look around and you'll see many other examples of American ingenuity coming through at the right time. When the old-fashioned saloon keeper got into trouble with his bartenders pouring too much whiskey for a drink, the automatic bartender came into being. Now the machine pours the proper amount every time. Both money and whiskey are saved.

And who ever thought the day would come when football and baseball no longer would have to be played on muddy fields. But we now have synthetic grass—all due to American ingenuity.

Women are wearing synthetic furs, and we have all manner of "impossible" things. Why, we even have synthetic milk and coffee cream!

We have beef gravy sold in plastic bags and good soup made from the ingredients purchased in a tiny paper sack.

So don't laugh off the possibility of having a substitute for oil to solve the fuel crisis.

American ingenuity has accomplished some unbelievable things.

Would city inspections break the color line?

The United Northwestern Realty Association (UNRA) recently appeared before Detroit Common Council to object to a proposed ordinance requiring city certification of all one or two-family dwellings sold within the city.

Jerry Rozema of Livonia, president of UNRA, made a number of specific arguments against the ordinance which he predicted would "turn equities into liabilities in older homes and force increased abandonment."

I know Rozema must be aware most suburban governments presently require local inspections before a new or used house is sold and occupied. Yet, UNRA has never objected to city certification in the suburbs.

INDEED, many real estate salesmen go out of their way to point out to property owners that a city inspection is required before a sale can be consummated.

The local inspection requirement makes a house more "saleable" because certain improvements are made at the expense of the seller — an obvious plus for the buyer.

This is particularly important in the suburbs where higher percentages of house sales are financed by mortgage assumption or conventional financing. In Detroit, on the other hand, a larger proportion are FHA- and VA- financed transactions.

Emory Daniels Writes...

In Garden City, for instance, if a homeowner sells by assumption, the only inspection is by the city. This is good because it protects the buyer. But it is also good for potential buyers in Detroit.

If our metropolitan goal is to stop the white flight from Detroit, and encourage young couples to move into the city, then it is appropriate to offer the same protection to buyers of used homes in Detroit that is afforded suburban buyers.

AN UNSOUND argument UNRA presented to Detroit Common Council was that "Sellers with low equity would abandon their homes rather than take a substantial loss from making major repairs."

If the ordinance doesn't pass, are we to assume a real estate salesman can wave a magic wand, sell that same house, and the buyer can somehow protect his low equity without making costly major repairs? How many buyers are attracted to a house which requires costly major repairs?

Many arguments against city certification for Detroit could be used (but weren't) to protest local city inspections in the suburbs. Such as:

- The burden of extra maintenance and repairs would fall on persons least able to afford it and erode built-up equity.

- Owners would be forced to update older homes that comply with former health and safety codes to meet rules required in newer structures. (On this point, suburbs use certification to "retroactively enforce" building codes.)

- No provision is offered for appealing or contesting a repair requirement, and sellers would bear the costs of a second inspection along with costs of added repairs. (Most suburbs charge an inspection fee which includes the expense of the second visit by the inspector.)

- Buyers with small or no down payments usually purchase homes with FHA- or VA- approved mortgages for which inspections are already required. (The same applies to Redford Township, Westland and Garden City which have substantial FHA and VA sales).

THE MOTIVES of UNRA's opposition to Detroit's proposal are unclear to me, just as it is unclear why UNRA never complained about certification ordinances in the suburbs.

I almost would suspect the foes might prefer current conditions in Detroit with many mortgages being foreclosed and purchased at auction at bargain prices by real estate brokers. But an honorable profession certainly wouldn't entertain that motive, would it?

I do suspect, however, that brokers would like to promote "black containment" within Detroit and thereby assure "property values" in the suburbs. Without certification, houses in Detroit may remain lower priced than those in the suburbs and more economically attractive to blacks.

With certification, Detroit houses might become comparably priced to those in the suburbs, giving blacks "a choice." Unthinkable!

Instead of opposing ordinances intended to raise the quality of used houses in Detroit, UNRA might better devote its energies to stabilizing prices of used houses in all areas by objecting to artificial mechanisms used by governments to make suburban houses more "valuable" than those in Detroit.

If UNRA is not so moved, at least it can level objections throughout suburbia so real estate owners aren't forced to undergo the same "hardships" UNRA says Detroiters will.

editorial opinion

It can't possibly happen --never!

News stories you'll probably never get to read:

DETROIT—In a major policy change, Channel 6 announced it will drop its "entertainment" format on its 6 and 11 p.m. news programs and attempt to report the news.

"Our hiring policies will emphasize reporting competence and knowledge of public affairs," said station manager Bill McGroom, "and acting ability will no longer be sufficient."

Tim Richard writes

In the ensuing personnel shakeup, anchorman Bob Stocks left the station and at last report was working for a rural weekly newspaper, where he was learning to write obituaries.

WASHINGTON—The president of the United Industrial Workers said today his own union was to blame for the economic suffering of its members.

UIW President Ben Partridge promised his giant union would attempt to put its own house in order before blaming the companies, the utilities, the legislature, the governor, Congress, the president and the Arabs for massive unemployment.

"The truth," said Partridge, "is that we ripped off too much in that last contract. We helped send unit costs sky-high, and consumers are rebelling against the resultant high prices."

"And we intend to face squarely the fact that our own members were to blame for the slogan 'Never buy a car built on Friday or Monday' because of their poor attendance habits."

PLIFORD—Voters in South Pliford School District will be asked June 9 to replace an eight-mill operating levy with one of 6.5 mills.

"Conditions are changing," said SP Supt. Paul

Hobver, "and we're going to pass the savings onto the taxpayer."

Main reason for the cut, said Hobver, is that enrollments have declined and fewer teachers are needed.

A less obvious but noteworthy second reason, he said, is that all the pre-school, special education and remedial programs given younger children are finally paying off. "We're flunking fewer high school students now, and teacher productivity has thus improved," said the superintendent.

Heavy police costs on the part of the city have cut school vandalism, window breakage and heat loss, resulting in further budget reductions.

WASHINGTON—President Ford today signed into law a bill eliminating the word "rip-off" from the English language.

DETROIT—Mayor Elder said all future department head appointments will be made on the basis of merit and ability. He disavowed plans to build a personal political empire and said instead the city administration will concentrate on public service.

GARDENLAND—The editor of a newspaper said he would produce no editorials this week because he had nothing new, interesting or intelligent to say.

The 'Mr. Millers' restore our faith in mankind

Maybe I'm getting old-fashioned as the years advance, but a letter I received Monday from Robert C. Maxwell, of Livonia, made an enormous impression.

His letter was prompted by an experience he had last week, in which a good Samaritan helped him out.

"Driving west on Six Mile in the brief, but blinding, snowstorm last Tuesday evening," Mr. Maxwell writes, "my old car coughed, gasped and quit. I managed to coax the car to coast onto a residential side street. There I made all the mechanical and electrical checks possible and completely drained the battery trying to re-start the car."

"As I was about to slam the hood and unleash the anger and disgust most of us experience when things mechanical fail us, a man's voice interrupted:

"'HAVING PROBLEMS?' The voice belonged to Mr. Donald Miller whose home is on Westbrook in Livonia."

"Mr. Miller left the comfort of his family room and whatever he might have been doing with his leisure hours to help start my car. He connected jumpers to his car, checked ignition spark, gas flow, the whole shot. Turned out that Mr. Miller is an automotive engineer and obviously knew much more about the 'problems' than I did."

"Twenty minutes, a half-inch of snowfall and four frozen hands later, even Mr. Miller's expertise could not restore life to my old car. But after thanking him and telling him I'd call a tow truck, Mr. Miller asked where I was headed. (I was driving my son to his Little League basketball game at Dickinson Junior High.) 'Jump in my car,' offered Mr. Miller, 'your boy's missed a bit of the game, but we can get him there for most of it.'"

"Considering that I would have been reluctant

Observation Point

by PHILIP H. POWER to have asked Mr. Miller to use his phone because he would have had every reason to slam the door in my face in light of all the ruses used by the growing criminal element to catch people off guard. Mr. Miller's good Samaritan act was indeed a refreshing reprise of past times when we had no reasons not to extend a helping hand to someone in need.

"Despite massive evidence to the contrary, I suggest that there are more 'Mr. Millers' among us than we ever hear about."

"Thank you again, Mr. Miller."

AND THANK YOU, Mr. Maxwell.

Thank you not only for writing me about an act of kindness that certainly deserves notice but also for suggesting that in these days of bad news and surly people, there are many more good Samaritans around than we think.

At this newspaper, we agree. We are very interested in hearing from any of our readers about the small but terribly important acts of human kindness that take place from time to time and which give us renewed faith in each other and in decency and thoughtfulness.

As far as we're concerned, we don't have to run bad or dreary news to sell newspapers. In fact, we'd like to run lots of stories and letters about the many "Mr. Millers" of this world.

If you have experience with a good Samaritan, please drop me a letter about it; try to include a brief description of the event and the name and city of residence of the person who helped out. I'll do my darnedest to find the space to get your experience into the paper, either as a letter or as a news story.

We need more time, light at the end of a hard day

It's the silly season again in Michigan.

As of last Sunday, practically all of the nation went on daylight saving time, but Michigan won't go on it until late in April.

The reason for the discrepancy is that last year, when the nation went on daylight saving time, supposedly for an entire year to save energy, the Michigan legislature exempted the state from full participation because children were being hurt when they had to go to school in the dark during the short days of December and January.

The nation, as a whole, recognized this and went to a modified daylight saving schedule, but the Michigan legislature did not see fit to put us on the national schedule.

It is said that the outdoor movie people were able to get together with the farmers to convince the legislature that it shouldn't rush into making our state conform to the rest of the states.

DAYLIGHT SAVING time has been described in an old Indian adage as cutting off one end of a blanket and sewing it on the other end to make the blanket longer.

In reality, this is not what daylight saving does. It takes an hour of daylight that is wasted while we are in bed in the morning and puts it at the other end of the day when the people can use it.

It saves energy because the most active time in a home is in the early evening and that extra hour means that lights and other utilities will not have to be turned on as long.

More important, the fact that most of the nation has gone on a schedule and to have our state exclude itself only leads to problems in commerce.

Eccentricities

by HANK HOGAN

If you are going to travel anywhere, all of the airline schedules are changed because we will be in the Chicago time belt for two and a half months instead of the New York belt.

TELEVISION STATIONS have to go to the expense of taping network programs and then re-play them at their proper non-daylight time so that Michigan will miss most national live telecasts.

The stock market will still function on New York time. Companies with plants in many states will be handicapped in their operations because of the temporary change in the operating hours of their plants.

Unless you have small children who go to bed very early and don't like to go to bed in the daylight, there seems to be very little reason for us not to be on daylight saving time with the rest of the nation.

The inconvenience to drive-in movie owners and those farmers who have to rise an hour earlier by the clock (but actually at the same sun time) does not outweigh the advantages for the larger number of individuals affected by Michigan's non-conforming time.

The minority will continue to rule in this matter until the people speak.

The innocent still lose in court

Editor:

On Nov. 12, 1974, I was wrongly accused of a moving traffic violation in the City of Livonia. The details of the alleged violation are not important, but the inconvenience of time is.

When the police officer accused me of committing this offense, I immediately told him I had not done what he said. My son, a 17-year-old licensed driver, was with me and verified this as did a total stranger.

I took the ticket and within 15 minutes appeared in the Livonia police station to protest to the officer in charge. He said I could only appear in court on the date which appeared on the ticket, Dec. 15, 1974, or pay the $15 fine.

I would not pay the fine as I feel that would be admitting my guilt. It would be bad enough to have a perfect driving record spoiled by a minor offense, but it would be inexcusable to spoil it for an offense I did not commit.

The small print on the ticket said to be in court promptly at 9 a.m. Dec. 11. I was there promptly at 9 a.m. along with about 100 other persons. I had to make arrangements for someone to care for my pre-schooler so I could be present. Also, my nine-year-old child had to get herself off to school alone.

Not so promptly at 9:40 a.m. the judge entered the courtroom. I was one of the fortunate ones as my case was one of the first ones to be heard. I pleaded innocent to the charge, and the judge told me to return to court Jan. 19, promptly at 9 a.m.

Upon returning home, I checked my calendar only to realize the judge had issued me a Sunday court date. A few days later a letter arrived with a new court date of Feb. 18.

Now once again, I must make ar-

READERS FORUM

Letters must be original copies and contain the signature and address of the sender. Limit letters to 300 words.

Arrangements for my young child. My nine-year-old will have to get herself off to school alone, and my 17-year-old son will have to be excused from school to be my witness, along with the kind gentleman who had also witnessed this alleged offense.

Don't anyone quote to me. "You're presumed innocent until proven guilty." If this was the case, then why is the inconvenience all mine? I live about eight miles from the 16th Judicial Court of Livonia and my witness lives about 25 miles. The inconvenience and the cost of gas for two round trips for both of us are the point.

Surely, it would have been easier to have sent in the $15 and be done with it.

The court hours are for the convenience of judges and police officers, with their working hours being the only consideration and no consideration given to the non-working hours of the average citizen.

Furthermore, if the ticketing police officer fails to appear in court, the case is dismissed with no prior notification to the accused so she may save herself a trip to court. On the other hand, if the accused fails to appear and does not pay the ticket on the assigned date, he is subject to arrest. Who said you are presumed innocent until proven guilty?

The City of Livonia surely will lose money on this fiasco which has lasted three months and six days, at the expense of the taxpayer. If this is the only system we have, I think it greatly needs improving. I hold no grudge against the judge or police officer involved as they are only doing their jobs, as they see it. It is the system that allows an innocent person to be exposed to this harassment that is wrong.

Couldn't this whole affair have been settled on the street corner, with the police officer, the two witnesses and myself coming to an agreement and spared everyone the hassle?

It is now Feb. 19 and I appeared at the court house at 8:40 a.m. yesterday. I finally appeared before the judge at 1:10 p.m. At the inconvenience of my husband-missing work to remain at home with my pre-schooler, my 17-year-old son missing an entire day of school, and our waiting four hours to be heard, my trial was held.

The accusing police officer was present, the judge found me innocent, and the case was dismissed. My greatest regret is my son had to witness the slow-moving, unbalanced wheels of justice turning.

Seniors miss their share

Editor:

Along with other senior citizens of Westland, I am concerned with the problems of the older people who have tried to work within the framework of local government only to find the fate of the older people is in the hands of one person at city hall.

Does it not seem wrong that one man is in a position of power and refuses to make changes or help the older citizens, and if anyone tries to get justice or equity of funds he will allow no one to question his motives.

The seniors are in this position only because they have for many years been reluctant to speak up for their fair share or equity of funds available.

It's now two changes in their lot in life, namely to get a bus and have transportation and a senior citizens center of their own. Because of this petition, the administration, as of this date, has refused to answer.

While anyone has the right to petition our local government, the city has no corollary obligation to answer or act. Because of this, the senior citizens stand in awe at the actions of politicians.

In December 1972, I asked city administration, at the request of Gov. Milliken, what part of the federal sharing funds was to be allotted senior citizens. Now, three years later, it is common knowledge that 10 per cent of the people receive less than one-tenth of one per cent of federal sharing funds.

What the old people need is not political answers but just their share of available funds, no more, no less. It is clear the seniors have an exercise in futility. Nothing tangible is ever done. Only talk, and that is cheap.

Letter carriers are not robots

Editor:

I was appalled when I read in last Thursday's edition of your newspaper that a controversial method of letter carrier's evaluation may be put into effect in western Wayne County.

The evaluation, called Letter Carrier Route Evaluation System (LCRES), would measure by computers every step of the way.

I agree with Dwight White, president of Branch 4010 of the National Association of Letter Carriers, that it is "dehumanizing." While I agree that there is the possibility of some carriers not doing their share, the idea of lowering the human being to the mechanics of a machine is incomprehensible. Rather than try to cut costs in this manner, a spot check of carriers, periodically, would be beneficial. Also, ways should be found to speed things in the Post Office itself.

When a carrier cannot take a few seconds occasionally to say "Good Morning, how are you on this beautiful day?" then we have lost the fundamental basis for our existence as human beings. We may as well be robots.

John Glenn, GC West lose

Salem, Stevenson, Thurston eye titles

By FRED DeLANO

Plymouth Salem, Livonia Stevenson and Thurston High of South Redford fought their way into the championship round of their respective district basketball tournaments with victories Wednesday night.

They will be joined by either Livonia Bentley or Plymouth Canton, as these two meet tonight in a semifinal at Southfield High School.

Meanwhile, both Westland John Glenn, co-champion of the Northwest Suburban League, and Garden City West, Tri-River co-champ, were eliminated Wednesday.

PLYMOUTH SALEM'S Suburban Eight champs and Northville's Western Six titlists went at it like a couple of alleycats in their semifinal at Southfield before the Rocks won, 58-45. Even though Plymouth never trailed, the scrappy Mustangs kept the packed house in an uproar as they fought back time and again.

Outstanding defensive play let Plymouth get off to a 14-3 first period lead and it was 26-17 at the half. Jim Ellinghausen canned six of his 11 baskets in the third quarter and with 6-10 Eric Agardy going out on personal fouls with 1:11 left in that period Plymouth went to a semi-stall.

Ellinghausen's 22 points were high for Plymouth and Mike Campbell led Northville with 17. The Rocks had a 22-15 edge in field goals, in pushing their record to 18-2 and at 7 p.m. Saturday will meet the Bentley-Canton winner for the Southfield championship. Northville finished 20-2.

THE BIGGEST UPSET in area tournament action came at Churchill where Detroit Chadsey, which had a 1-17 record, knocked off Westland John Glenn, 66-57. The Rockets were 17-3 going into the contest but were intimidated by the Detroiters all the way and never gained the lead.

Chadsey led at the quarters 20-12, 31-24 and 52-43, and Glenn never seemed able to solve the Explorers' pressing man-for-man defense. Chadsey's Dave Black put on quite a shooting exhibition by hitting 10 of 11 shots from the floor for 20 points, and John Jesson was high for Glenn with 17.

In the second half of the double header, Inkster Cherry Hill led all the way to send GC West to the sidelines, 53-52. It was the third time this season that Cherry Hill had beaten the Tigers, who finished with an 18-4 record. Cherry Hill is 17-4.

West had several chances to tie things up in the final period but couldn't cut the mustard. Then, with 23 seconds left, Cherry Hill's Don Barnes hit a foul shot that made it 53-50 and put victory out of West's reach despite a final bucket by Ken Chavis.

Dave Niles topped West scoring with 25 points. Bob Fowler leading Cherry Hill with 24. Chadsey and Cherry Hill will meet for the Churchill tournament title at 7 p.m. Friday.

STEVENSON MOVED into contention to capture the tourney it is hosting when the Spartans whipped Taylor Truman, 63-56, after building up an 18-point halftime margin that proved a handy cushion against Truman's fourth quarter comeback.

Behind the hot shooting of Jim Giland, who had 19 of his 24 points in the first half and 13 in the second quarter alone, the Spartans led at intermission 40-22. Their big surge came in the second period when they outscored Truman, 23-6.

Three times in the fourth stanza Truman cut the Stevenson lead to five points, but the Spartans weren't about to be overhauled. The Inter-Lakes champions now are 17-5 and will face Detroit Denby at 8 p.m. Friday at Stevenson for the district crown.

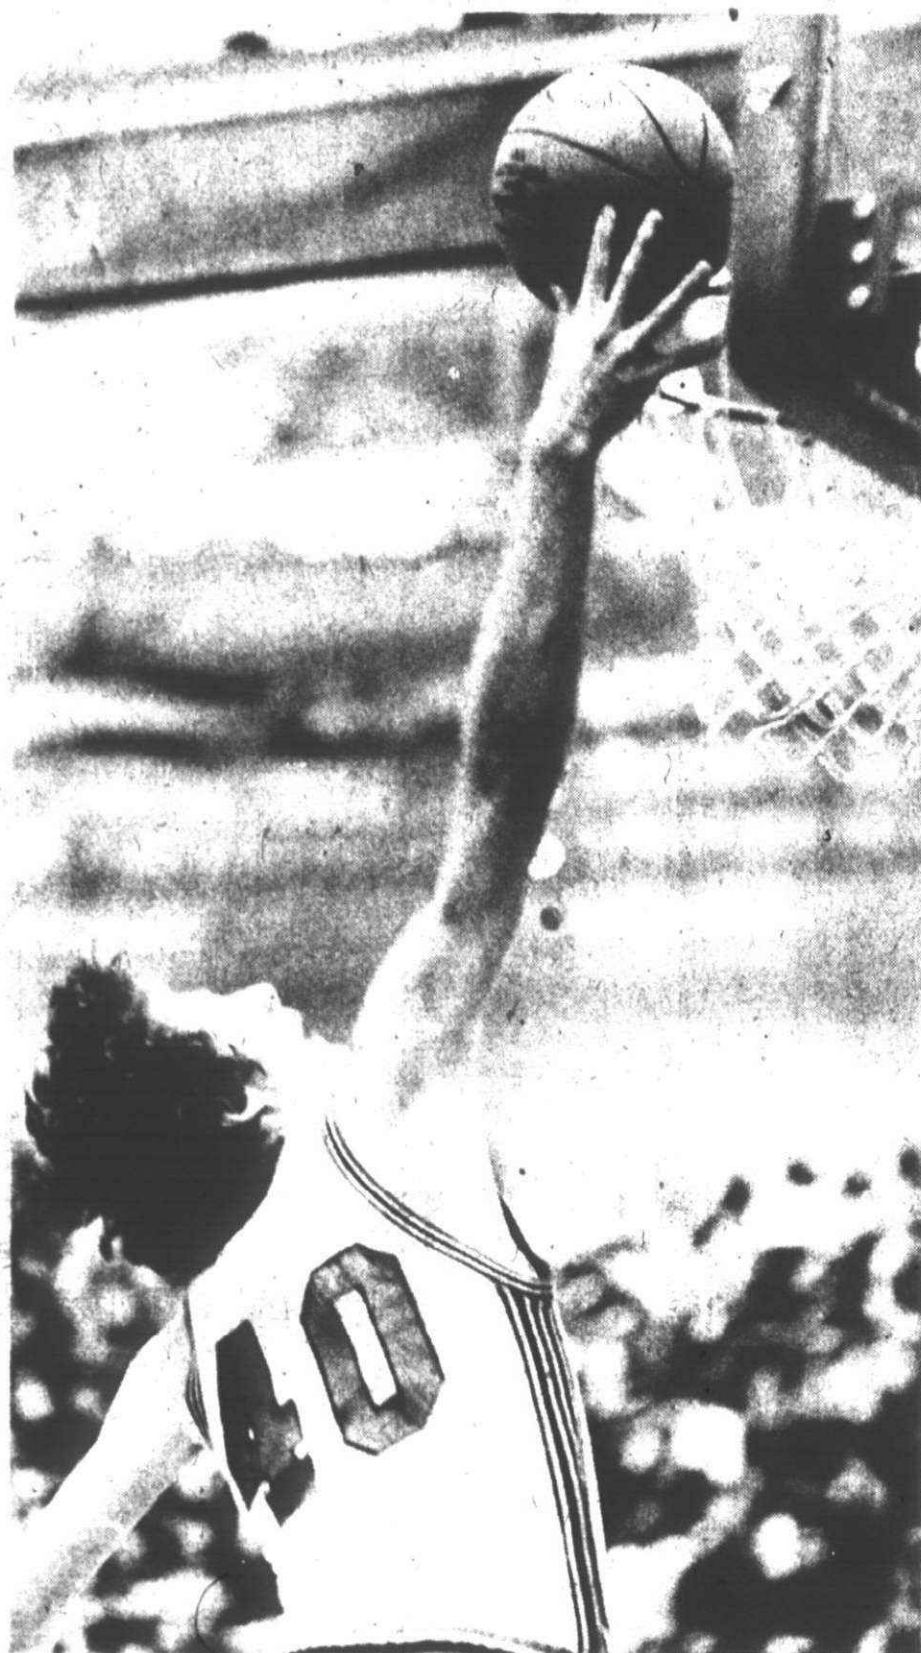

Denby walked over Taylor Kennedy 66-22 in the second game at Stevenson. Stuart House, Vince Rush, Ray Bradley and Jim Newman all scoring in double figures. Denby will take a 9-7 record into the title game.

THURSTON HAD what Coach Bill Croteau called "a super ball game" in trouncing Dearborn Heights Crestwood 77-61 in the tourney at Southfield Lathrup. The Eagles outscored Crestwood 46-29 across the second and third periods.

Eagle standouts were Jeff Krzywada, a 5-7 senior, with 18 points, six assists and six steals; Cory Rodriguez with 18 points. Gary Bireta with 16 and Dave Polidori with 17 rebounds.

Lathrup's host club is the other tourney finalist, reaching that plateau by trouncing Detroit Cooley, 85-65. The Thurston-Lathrup title match is set for 7:30 p.m. Friday.

JOHN JESSON, 6-3 John Glenn senior, helped fire the Rockets past Garden City East in their initial state tourney test with unhindered baskets such as this. Glenn triumphed 73-50. (Photo by Mitch Booth).

It's Bentley-Canton in tourney tonight

A strong second half comeback which accounted for a 63-53 victory over Farmington carried Livonia Bentley into the semifinals of the district basketball tourney at Southfield High School, a battle which pits the Bulldogs against Plymouth Canton at 7 p.m. tonight (Thursday).

The winner in that one will return to the same court at 7 p.m. Saturday to meet the winner of Wednesday night's Plymouth Salem-Northville game for the district championship and the right to advance into next week's regional at Livonia Franklin.

After winning only two previous road games, the Bulldogs played the first half against Farmington as though they actually believed they couldn't win away from home. They were behind at the half, 29-24.

The turnaround came when Bentley switched to a zone defense for the second half and developed aggressiveness in its board game. The Bulldogs had a 16-8 advantage in the third period, limiting the Falcons to four field goals, and came on strong for a 23-16 edge in the final period.

"If we play against Canton like we did in the first half against Farmington, we'll be in trouble," said Bulldog coach Larry Jackson who admitted to a pre-game fear of meeting Farmington for a third time.

In earlier games this season, the Bulldogs had beaten the Falcons 70-48, and 55-48, but Jackson pointed out that Bentley never had beaten any team three times in one campaign. That jinx is now broken.

Jim Rhodes and Tim Weiss led the Livonians' second half scoring surge, Rhodes getting 14 of his 18 points in that span and Weiss 11 of his night's total of 15.

With Farmington ahead 35-34 in the third period, it was Rhodes who came up with two quick baskets to put the Bulldogs in front 38-35. From there they built a lead that eventually reached 12 points.

Top scorers for the Falcons, who finished the season 5-16, were Mitch Thomas, 15; Randy Meier, 13, and Dave Tyler, 10. Bentley will take a 12-9 mark into the game with Canton, which is 10-10.

Livonians win 3 tennis titles

Livonia netters won three championships in the scholastic boys and girls tournaments sponsored by the Grand Slam tennis club of the Livonia Family Y.

Mark Cheadle of Churchill High took the boys singles with Rick Gwizdz of Garden City East runnerup. Then Mark joined with Dan Clark of Livonia to take the doubles crown.

Judy Preston and Jan Collins of Livonia won the girls double and Janice Lukasiewicz of Farmington was crowned queen in the girls under 14 singles.

20 matmen from area in regionals

Twenty wrestlers from nine area high schools have qualified to compete in Saturday's regional tournaments as a stepping stone to the state championships which will be determined March 7-8.

All but two of the grapplers represent Class A schools, the exceptions being Mitch Lentovich in the 167-pound category and Mike Washburn, 185, both of Clarenceville—a Class B school.

In all cases the matmen who are advancing to the regionals won that right by placing among the top four in their weight divisions in last week-end's district competition.

Westland John Glenn has a five-man contingent in the regionals: Argan Vasha, 105; Don Cicotte, 112; Bill Ficyk, 119; Fred Shoemaker, 138, and Mark Grabowski, 167.

Garden City West qualified these four—Brian Kimball, 112; Dan Holmes, 138; Dave Rochon, 145, and Scott Renner, 155.

Plymouth Salem will be represented by Les Hassen, 98, and Jerry Brink, 138; Livonia Stevenson by Jim Treharne, 126, and Doug Stein, heavyweight, and Redford Union by Dave Lindberg, 132, and Dave Jann, 185. Single representatives will include Jim O'Shea, 105, Livonia Franklin; Jeff Mathini, 126, Thurston, and Jim Tucker, heavyweight, Garden City East.

In the district meets, Clarenceville finished seventh in the Class B tourney at Algonac with 13½ points, while in Class A competition at Walled Lake the order of finish by teams read: Wayne Memorial, 38; Walled Lake Western, 28½; Farmington, 20; Garden City West, 18; John Glenn, 16½; North Farmington, 15½; Walled Lake Central, 15; Plymouth Salem, 13; Livonia Stevenson and Redford Union, 12 each; Farmington Harrison and Livonia Franklin, 8 each; Thurston, 6½; Livonia Churchill and Northville, 5 each; Livonia Bentley, 4½; Plymouth Canton and Bishop Borgess, 2 each; Garden City East, 1.

Glenn, GC West have easy time winning state openers

Sparked by a desire to win this one for their ailing coach and also to gain revenge for the unexpected loss a week earlier that cost them undisputed possession of first place in the Northwest Suburban League, fiery John Glenn's Rockets roared past Garden City East, 73-49 in the opening round of the district Class A tournament at Livonia Churchill.

In the second half of the twin bill, Garden City West rolled past a scrappy Churchill quintet, 70-59.

The victories sent Glenn against Detroit Chadsey in the opener of a doubleheader Wednesday and qualified West to go against traditional rival Cherry Hill in the bottom bracket semifinal.

Wednesday's victors will tangle for the district championship Friday at 7 p.m. at Churchill.

With Coach Gordie Davis hospitalized with a back injury that probably will force him to miss all remaining cage games this year, the fired-up Rockets battled even with the Panthers in the first quarter and then gradually pulled away to the one-sided victory.

The score was knotted 13-all at the end of the quarter. Then East ran into a drought that found Glenn opening up a seven point gap, 24-17, with less than three minutes remaining in the half.

That's as close as East came to a victory, trailing 30-21 at the intermission.

Terry Johnson and Mark Thweatt kept the heat on the Panthers in the third period and Glenn widened the margin to 45-31 at the start of the fourth quarter.

The Rockets really went to work in the last frame, scoring 28 points as the East defense collapsed under the fast breaking Glenn offense.

Greg Emery was high scorer for the losers with 16. Johnson and Thweatt had 18 each for Glenn.

Churchill, considered an underdog against a powerful West machine which shared the Tri-River championship, gave the Tigers fits for three quarters before wilting in the closing eight minutes.

Charger Coach Pat Montagano had his club primed for a possible upset, while West Coach Chris Babler had to guard against overconfidence.

Perhaps that was the reason why West was so slow getting started because Churchill took to the home court and gave the Tigers fits for quite a while.

It was a seesaw scrap in the opening frame with the score knotted four times before West went ahead 14-10.

The action was much the same in the second quarter with the lead changing hands twice before Churchill tied it 29-29 at the final buzzer on a shot by Scott Shepard.

The Chargers charged ahead 36-33 after three minutes in the third period before West answered with three quick baskets for a 39-36 edge.

It was anybody's game from then to the end of the stanza with West finally holding a one point 43-42 margin as the final period opened.

That's when West really went to work and quickly had Churchill on the outside looking in. Three consecutive hoops made it 49-42 before the Chargers tallied.

West stormed back with six more points for a 56-44 lead and it was just a question of how large the deficit would be in the remaining time.

West controlled the backboards with Mike Susko and Randy Shelley while Dave Niles did a masterful job of quarterbacking and scoring.

Babler sent in his second stringers when the score went to 68-53 and the Chargers took advantage of the situation to collect six points.

At the final whistle Niles was the top scorer for the victors with six field goals and 11 of 12 free throws for 23 points. Susko was close behind with 18 and was a dominating factor in rebounds.

Stevenson buries foe, 64-32 'Best shot' falls short

Powerful Livonia Stevenson cut loose its big guns, Rob Rose and Dave Haberman, in the first round of the district tournament Monday night at Taylor Center withered under the fire, 64-32. Thirteen Spartans hit the scoring column in the Stevenson gym bombardment.

The impressive victory, which pushed Stevenson's overall season mark to 16-5, leaves the Spartans an early favorite to meet flashy Detroit Denby in the tourney final Friday night. Denby easily upended Livonia Franklin, 63-52, at Stevenson Monday.

So devastating was the Spartan attack that Taylor didn't have a prayer by midway of the second period. Two long fielders by Rose, helped Stevenson to a 10-7 advantage at the end of the first quarter, and Rose and Haberman then collaborated for a 15 point spree that had hiked the Spartan advantage to 29-14 at halftime.

Only the quick-break antics of little John McFadden, Taylor play-maker, kept the Rams in the game through the first period. McFadden drew first blood in the game after, then gave Taylor its widest margin of the contest, 74, with a three pointer. There were only two minutes left in the quarter at that point, but Rose's two long strippers and another by Dave Galindo put the Spartans in front to stay.

Converting seven of 10 shots at the free throw line and salting down five from the field, Rose was high point man for the evening with 17. Haberman pumped in six fielders in the second and third periods for 12, while Galindo hit the net four times to rack up eight points. McFadden, leaving the game at the end of the third period with an injured right ankle, led the Rams with 13.

'Point-a-minute' signifies a fine effort in football, but it was a label of frustration for Taylor as the Rams were held to exactly that kind of an offensive performance by the aggressive, hard pressing Spartans. Thirty-two points in 32 playing minutes proved a low ebb in a Taylor season that slipped to 7-14.

Particularly outstanding in the Livonia defense was the rebound play of Rose, Haberman and George Herman. Taylor had but 21 points at the end of the third period, after which Spartan coach George Van Wagoner flooded the floor with reserves. He emptied the bench with 1:31 left in the game. Seventeen Stevenson players in all saw action.

Although St. Agatha fell by the wayside in the first round of the state basketball tourney 47-46 to St. Frances Cabrini of Allen Park, Aggie coach Jim George called it "our best shot—we gave it all we had."

After being down by nine points midway in the second period, 21-12, the Aggies pulled to within one point and trailed at halftime only 24-23. They outscored Cabrini 12-3 in that surge, with Greg Sipos dumping in eight of those points on four field goals.

"From then on there were just a couple of points between us all the way and the lead changed hands several times," said George. "It was a heartbreaking way to end it, but the kids never quit."

The teams were deadlocked 34-34

after three quarters and Cabrini finally moved ahead to stay at 44-42 in the last two minutes. The game was included in the Class C eliminations at St. Andrew and Sipos led the Aggies with 16 points, Gary Beyrand adding 14 and Pat Ruvolo 10. By winning three of their last six games the Aggies finished 4-17 for the season.

THIS BOY AND THIS GIRL ARE MISSING

This boy and this girl are missing out on a lot of things they could be having as carriers for the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers. They could be earning such things as money, merchandise prizes and tickets to special events.

But earning pocket money and winning special prizes are just two of the nice things that can happen to carriers. There are bigger advantages. A carrier goes into business for himself. At an early age, he or she learns how to get along with people. They do a bit of bookkeeping. They learn responsibility. They gain additional confidence.

Is your child missing out on these things? If one of your children is 12 years old or more, we suggest you get in touch with us, and hear about our carrier program.

It took an overtime period to do it, but Thurston High School survived the first round of the state basketball tournament with a 66-63 victory over Dearborn Heights Annapolis in the district at Southfield Lathrup.

The win sent Thurston against Dearborn Heights Crestwood in Wednesday night's semi-finals and established the Eagles as likely contenders for the championship Friday night.

Matching an Annapolis performance that saw five men score in double figures with greater team depth, the

Patriots eliminated as House hits 39

A spectacular one-man effort by Detroit Denby ace Stuart House proved too much for Livonia Franklin Monday night and the Patriots fell 63-52 in the first round of the district tournament at the Stevenson gym.

The 6-10 House, one of the season-long standouts in Detroit area basketball, poured in 39 points and was outstanding in defensive play beneath the Patriots' backboard. Still a junior but already being eyed hungrily by several colleges, House scored 16 fielders as his total point production tied the Denby school record.

Behind 22-6 at the end of the first quarter as House opened up with 12 points, Franklin fell in behind Sam Williams, Dan Pederson and John Elmore for several short rallies throughout the rest of the game. But time and time again House put out the fire with a devastating assortment of hooks and layups.

Sliding to 5-15 for the season, the Patriots put together 17 points in the final quarter to narrow the final gap. But the game was already long out of reach as Denby coasted to its ninth victory in 16 starts. Denby lost some early season games while young House was getting accustomed to playing directly beneath the basket for feed-ins.

Denby play-maker Ray Bradley and House's rebound partner, Rudy Watley, also shared in the Patriots' downfall as they scored 11 and six points respectively and were dynamos on the winners' stylish defense.

Franklin never enjoyed the lead. House converted an easy layup with 50 seconds gone, the Patriots' Dennis Wesley tied it with a fielder, but then Eagles were on the short end of a 46-43 count after three periods and then came back with an 18-15 advantage in the final stanza.

With Annapolis leading 61-59 in the final minute, Thurston's Dave Beebe stole the ball to score the basket that sent it into overtime at 61-all. Baskets by Beebe and Fazzini, plus a free throw from Dave Polidori, gave the Eagles a 5-2 edge in the extra session and their 66-63 victory.

Beebe, a 6-3 sophomore, scored nine

Sub-8 Honors 2 from Salem on all-loop unit

Plymouth Salem and Belleville, the teams that finished 1-2 in the Suburban Eight title race, dominated all-league basketball selections made by a vote by the coaches.

Belleville landed three spots on the all-star squad and Salem two. In a departure from prior years, the coaches picked a 10-man squad without differentiating between first and second teams.

Single spots went to Livonia Bentley, Dearborn, Trenton, Allen Park and Edsel Ford, Redford Union being the only school shut out.

The players named included Eric Agardy and Jim Ellinghausen of Plymouth, the trio of Walter Easley, Dennis Easley and Mel Abraham of Belleville, Jim VanderHull of Dearborn, Steve Deller of Trenton, Don Kogley of Bentley, Phil Beyer of Allen Park and Steve Betz of Edsel Ford.

Ken Crespi of Livonia is the new Detroit Metro Open handball champion, winning the title with a 21-16, 21-13 victory over the defending king, Larry Brown of Detroit.

Crespi worked his way through a field of 64 of the state's top stars at the Livonia Family Y. He whipped Dave Rott, of Detroit, 19-21, 21-9 and 21-11 in the quarterfinals and upended Ed Novak of Detroit 21-10 and 21-19 in the semifinals.

Unless the American Totalisator Co. and members of Local 1501 of the IBEW (International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers) reach an agreement in Baltimore in the next 24 hours, race tracks throughout the United States and those in Canada serviced by the 'Tote' company will come to a complete halt Friday at midnight.

All of which means neither Northville Downs nor Windsor Raceway would operate Saturday and would remain dark until the strike is settled.

If the 'tote' workers decide to walk out (and there is every indication they will), it will mark the first time a strike has been called against American Totalisator Co.

The union blames the inability to reach an agreement to the fact that the company was taken over a couple of years ago by General Instrument Co. It charges the new management has not lived up to verbal agreements made at the time of the takeover and has tried to reduce the work force by making the track management furnish electricians. It seems that previously was part of the union contract... all workers on the 'tote' machines were members of the union.

A UNION spokesman here, who prefers to remain unidentified, reports the local will have the support of Local 73, of the Service Employees International Union which includes all of the mutual department workers, Local 58 of the Electrical Workers Union, the Teamsters and other unions connected with the race tracks.

"If this strike becomes effective Saturday, and we know it will," he said, "then every race track will be dark. There's no way the mutual machines can operate without our members present."

"We don't believe it will be a long strike because of the loss of revenue to all states involved, but we know it is going to be an effective walkout. Think of the millions lost in taxes if the tracks are dark."

We have to agree with him. The mutual machines are so complicated that only a trained person can fix one when it goes bad. Believe us we have seen many machines shut down for repairs and fixed almost immediately by efficient 'tote' trained persons.

All of which leads one to wonder if the current deadlock between the Detroit Racing Association and the Mutual Clerks Union will be resolved when the 'tote' strikes end.

CIRCUIT COURT JUDGE Tom Foley settled one of the issues of the day earlier in the week when he handed down a ruling clearing Racing Commissioner Leo Shirley of charges of capricious actions in allocating racing dates for 1975.

The commissioner had been charged by Northville Downs Executive Director John Carlo of acting capriciously in taking all summer dates from his track and awarding back-to-back meetings to Hazel Park and Wolverine during the lucrative summer season.

Judge Foley, in a 45-minute decision, ruled that Shirley did have the right to allot dates as he saw fit under the provisions of the Michigan Racing Act.

Foley went further and told horsemen, who had testified that back-to-back summer meetings for the two big tracks would put them out of business, to go out and buy better horses so they could be competitive.

He criticized the manner in which the attorney for Carlo presented his case, repeating his admonitions for the same reasons during the trial.

What happens now rests with Carlo who has indicated he will study the ruling before deciding whether he will appeal to a higher court.

ALTHOUGH talks broke down earlier in the week, we are looking for the DRA and the union teams to resume negotiations quickly once the 'tote' strike ends.

There doesn't seem much sense in trying to reach a contract and try to start the 1975 thoroughbred season in Michigan if the mutual machines aren't working.

One gathers from conversations with DRA officials that the track will open just as soon as a contract is signed.

"We have no reason not to operate the 33 days of the early meeting," said Vice President and General Manager Dick Wilson.

There are some 800 horses on the grounds and we could open within three or four days after reaching an agreement. Right now we aren't that close. We made the union an offer which was turned down.

On the other hand the union also offered some plans to us which we still didn't think appropriate. So we're still stymied and far from an agreement.

That shouldn't be taken to mean that we are at a point where none can budge. Who knows, maybe at the next session some offer will come up that we can all accept."

JOHNNY CARLO, of Northville Downs, may be complaining about the lack of summer dates but his winter operation continues at a near record pace.

The Downs handled $511,000 Friday and then went $502,000 Saturday for the first million dollar weekend of the year.

It probably is the first for the half-mile plant during a winter meeting and once again shows people do have money for the races even though the economy is lagging.

It appeared as if Northville would have an all-time high wagering total Saturday when the figures indicated that after six races. But then some fog drifted over the track and the plant, which already had been spoked by a night-long rain. That's when folks began to take off for home.

Most probably thought the area was going to get hit with one of those heavy fogs and decided to avoid driving in it if possible.

Would you believe the fog lifted within a half-hour and driving was clear after the last race.

However, the wagering dropped drastically in the final three races and a chance for a record vanished with the fog.

There's still plenty of time for records with seven weeks of racing remaining on the Northville season.

In The Pocket

By W.W. EDGAR

Bowlers on all fronts are entering the tournament season and from early indications they'll rewrite the record book for the number of events and participants.

"In past years we have had about 100 tournaments sanctioned in the area," says Tom McKay, secretary of the Greater Detroit Bowling Association.

And it seems almost certain that number will be surpassed."

Two of the largest are just ahead. The women's state event, which draws many teams from this area, opens March 1 at Lansing, and Marge Strokis, state secretary, reports entries are well above 3,000 teams and higher than a year ago.

Two weeks later the Detroit Women's Association title chase gets under way in Satellite Bowl with an entry that could threaten the record of 1,055 teams set in 1948.

The latest to enter the title chase is the annual Detroit Post office tournament that opens in State Fair Lanes March 8-9. This is the second year, but it promises keen competition.

MEMBERSHIP IN THE greater Detroit Bowling Association continues on the rise. Thus far the roll has passed the 133,000 mark and is well above last year when the final count reached 132,600.

With the women's association headed for a new high, too, it means metropolitan Detroit ranks now number close to a record 250,000 mark. The lists don't close until July 31.

WHEN JAMES AUSUM rolled a 300 game last week in the Michigan Open in Shafer lanes, it brought this year's total to 21. At this time a year ago, only 14 perfect games had been reported and there were only 22 for the entire season.

THE VINCO LEAGUE in Garden Lanes now can boast a member of the 700 club. This came to pass when Tony Kall put together games of 244, 247 and 225 for a 716, to beat Larry Snap, who took the runner-up role with a 685.

BOB CHAMBERLAIN was gripped with mixed emotions last week at Westland Bowl and for a good reason.

He missed a perfect game when he left up the 6-10 in the 10th frame of his first game and settled for 298. Then he added games of 248 and 215 for a 761 series that was the highest rolled in the house for the season.

While Bob was setting the record, young Frank Ashcraft joined him in the 700 club when he linked games of 235, 266 and 221 for a 722 to draw far away from the rest of the field. Dan Emmett landed third place with 641 and Bob Goike Jr. had a 268 in 629 for the fourth position.

CLOSE FINISHES were the order of the day at Bel-Aire Lanes. Only four pins separated the top four in the senior house league where Bob Laud set the pace with a 644 to gain a two-pin edge on Steve Kielian who, in turn, had a two pin edge on Tom Naberger and Hugh Brotherton who tied for third at 640.

It was more of the same in the Classic where nine pins separated the top four. James Strange took the lead with 683, Don Trotter was next with 680, Joe Foster landed third with 675 that gave him a one pin lead over John McKeever.

While these battles were being recorded, John Lennon walked off with all the honors in the businessmen league with a 726 that gave him a wide edge on his closest rivals—Dave Jackson with 137 and Leon Berger with 621.

In the Thursday mixed league, Don Feldpausch topped the field with a 653 and Chris Stevens paced the women with 530.

FARMINGTON LANES placed three bowlers in the finals of the American Youth championships over the weekend at Ford Lanes.

The fortunate trio included Barbara Hamlin in the handicap division, Marsha Terry in the girls open section and Ray Smith in the boys open class.

Cold Trojans lose in tourney

Ice cold shooting in the fourth quarter helped spell the doom of Clarenceville's basketball team in the first round of the state tourney.

The Trojans missed every one of their 11 field goal attempts in that final period, netting only six free throws, and lost to Redford St. Mary, 59-48, on the latter's court.

"We played well, particularly in the first half and were down at that time only 35-30," said Trojan coach Bob Wolf. "Be closed it to 35-34 at the start of the third quarter, and then St. Mary stretched it out."

"Be had scrappiness, but they had the height to control the boards and we couldn't even buy a bucket in that fourth quarter."

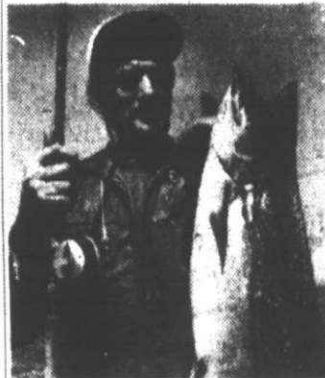

REDFORD ST. MARY (59): Roberts 3, 0-0, 6; Jim Sabourin 5, 0-0, 10; Jones 4, 4-4, 12; Stafford 0, 1-2, 1; Spivey 1, 1-2, 3; John Sabourin 3, 0-1, 6; Kendzicky 10, 1-2, 21. Totals 26, 7-11, 59.

CLARENCEVILLE (48): Resetar 5, 5-6, 15; Reynolds 4, 0-0, 8; Beyer 1, 1-4, 3; Scholes 6, 5-7, 17; Rowens 1, 0-2, 2; Juntunen 0, 2-2, 2; Grossman 0, 0-1, 0; Heidelberg 0, 1-4, 1. Totals 17, 14-24, 48.

Theater superb in Miller's 'Salesman'

By SUE ROSIEK

The Theater Guild of Livonia-Redford has proved itself as adept at staging drama as comedies and musicals.

The group's current production, "Death of a Salesman," is a sensitive, deeply-moving rendition of Arthur Miller's play about an aging salesman who has wasted his life being something he never intended to be.

Miller's Pulitzer Prize-winning drama is enhanced by the guild's fine theatrical talents.

"Salesman" analyzes the aura of American success and what impact it can have on a person's life, in particular the life of Willy Loman.

AFTER 35 YEARS of faithful service to the same company, Loman loses his salary and is forced to eke out a living from commissions. However, the 60-year-old man no longer has the strength or ability to withstand long trips and sales pressures required to earn the commissions.

"He barely gets his valises in the car before he's tired," says his devoted wife, Linda, played by Louise Martin.

Howard Egan is Loman, the doomed salesman whose only failure in life is his surrender to the false ideas of success. It's Loman's other troubles with money and his sons that help him recognize his basic mistake.

Egan's portrayal of the troubled, old man is tremendous. He is in complete control of an extremely difficult role throughout the entire play.

Mrs. Martin's performance as his dutiful, concerned wife is equally outstanding. She does her best to shield her fading husband from the truth, and tries to make him as comfortable as she possibly can.

Not only is Loman's physical stamina ebbing away but his mind also is fatigued. Success has eluded him and the picture looks bleak. His sanity slips, and he starts reverting to the past, reliving the more pleasant moments and constantly searching for an answer to "just what I did wrong."

LOMAN'S SONS, Bif, played by Charles Elliot, and Happy, played by Dennis Bumpus, are another source of consternation.

Bif, a drifter and former high school athlete, is troubled by an incident in his father's past. He has long lost all respect for the man. At 34, Bif has had numerous jobs, spent time in jail, and says he's still "looking for myself."

Elliot does an able job as the burned-out athlete still reeling from his emotional scares. Bumpus also turns in a fine supporting role as a would-be swinging bachelor, who builds himself up to more than what he is or ever will be.

Faced with mortgage and refrigerator payments and with no hope of help from his sons, Loman turns to his friend and neighbor, Charley. Despite the insults Loman hurls at his friend, Charley sees through Loman and tries to help the frustrated old man. Leonard Bradley, as Charley lends a sympathetic and likeable performance in this role.

Loman's failure with his boys is further stressed in Charley's son, Bernard, played by Kevin McGee.

Bernard adored Bif as a youngster. Bif was everything the delicate, unathletic Bernard admired. Later in life, however, Bernard bids Loman farewell as he leaves for Washington to argue a case before the Supreme Court. Academics proved to be Bernard's success. McGee does a good job portraying the young and old Bernard.

ALSO DESERVING praise are Marion Tournaud as "the woman," and Max Wolf as Uncle Ben, Loman's brother who became a financial success, something Loman could never understand. John Fattel delivers a brief but excellent performance as the waiter.

The final performances of "Death of a Salesman" will be Friday and Saturday at 8:30 p.m. in the playhouse, 15188 Beech Daly, just south of Five Mile Road in Redford Township. Tickets are $3 general admission and $2 for students.

Seating is limited and reservations are advised. For tickets call Mrs. Gregory G. Nelson, 30742 Ann Arbor Trail, Westland, or Mrs. C. Foster, 16772 Country Club Drive, Livonia.

'Plaza Suite' in Westland

The Wayne-Westland Civic Theater will present Neil Simon's "Plaza Suite," Friday and Saturday, Feb. 28 and March 1 at 8:30 p.m. in John Glenn High School, Westland.

The three-act comedy is directed by Jacquie Guernsey. It concerns the hilarious antics that take place in Suite 719 of the Plaza Hotel in New York City.

Variety highlights symphony concert

The feelings of the Mardi gras, Lent, Palm Sunday and Good Friday will be expressed in the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra's next concert.

Wayne Dunlap, musical director and creative programmer, will step on the podium at 4 p.m., Sunday, March 2 in the Plymouth Salem High School Auditorium, Joy west of Canton Center Roads.

On the program are ballet music by Francis Poulenc, four meditations on "The Ascension" by Oliver Messiaen and Tchaikovsky's symphonic masterpiece, the "Pathétique." The first two works have never before been performed in Plymouth. Dunlap points out, and even an all-orchestra program is different.

"POULENC WROTE this ballet music in 1924 for the Ballet Russe," explains Dunlap. "Its title is 'Les Biches,' which means literally 'The Does' of 'The Deer,' but the usual translation is 'House Party.' You could say this symbolizes the Mardi gras festival before Lent.

"We're going to perform a suite from it—Rondeau, Adagietto, Rag-Mazurka, Andantino and Finale."

"Messiaen originally wrote 'The Ascension' for organ in 1933 and did the orchestra version in '35," says Dunlap. Among the "symphonic meditations," as Messiaen called them, are: "The Majesty of Christ Beseeching the Glory of His Father"; "Serene Alleluia of a Spirit Wishing to Ascend to Heaven"; "Alleluia" for trumpet and for cymbals; and "Prayer of Christ Rising to His Father."

PETER ILICH TCHAIKOWSKY wrote his sixth symphony, subtitled "Pathétique," just prior to his death in 1893 in a cholera epidemic, and shortly after finishing the score of "The Nutcracker." The composer himself remained a national hero despite changes in Russian regimes, and "Pathétique" is among his most popular works, even penetrating into soap opera.

While the listener is free to read into its four movements any thought he wishes, Dunlap sees possibilities of religious interpretation in the lental season.

In the third movement, which for most composers is a frothy scherzo, Tchaikovsky substituted a soaring march, symbolic of the Palm Sunday triumphal entry into Jerusalem. The fourth movement, scored "adagio lamentoso," begins with a mournful whimper and ends on a heartbeat, symbolic of Good Friday.

Tchaikovsky, besides plumbing the emotions, and creating memorable melodies, was also a brilliant orchestrator. Dunlap feels the entire program—and "Pathétique" in particular—will challenge the orchestra and show off its skills.

Tickets at $3 for adults and $1.50 for senior citizens will be available at the box office. Students kindergarten through 12th grade will be admitted free.

Free baby-sitting by girl scouts will be provided. Senior citizens may get bus rides from the Toniquish Creek Manor residence beginning 45 minutes before concert time.

Tickets for the April 26 program will go on sale at Sunday's concert. That program will feature the Michigan Opera Theater in Rossini's "The Barber of Seville."

Symphony mixes pop, classic tunes

The Westland Civic Symphony Orchestra will present its second concert of the season March 1 at 9 p.m. in the east mall of Westland Shopping Center.

"That's Entertainment" will be presented under the direction of H. Michael Endres. The 50-member orchestra is comprised of students and adults primarily from the Westland area.

"That's Entertainment" is a concert of popular music for orchestra, and selections will cover a wide range of music including popular and light classical tunes. They include Scott Joplin's "The Entertainer" (a ragtime two-step); Henry Mancini's arrangement of "Jesus Christ, Superstar"; Franz Schubert's "Rosamunde" overture; Johann Strauss's "Blue Danube"; "If You Go Away" by McKuen and Brel, arranged by Hayman; the "Sound of Simon and Garfunkel" by Paul Simon; and "Csardas" by Monti and Isaac featuring Mrs. Jane Lienthal as a violin soloist.

The orchestra rehearses weekly in John Glenn High School and is sponsored by the Westland Department of Parks and Recreation.

Jimmy Launce, radio personality will be the master of ceremonies. Admission is free.

'Mass' slated in Music Hall

Leonard Bernstein's "Mass," the theater piece for singers, players and dancers opens Wednesday, March 19 and continues through Saturday, March 29 in the Music Hall Center for the Performing Arts, Detroit.

"Mass" is a work of contrasts. It combines pop, folk, rock, jazz, "Broadway," and gospel with classical forms.

Tickets from $9.50 to $3 are available at Hudson's, Grinnell's Sears and the Music Hall office. Special groups rates also are available.

Area talent in EMU play

Area students will be featured in the Eastern Michigan Players production "Our Town," a Pulitzer prize-winning play by Thornton Wilder. The play is Feb. 28 and March 1 at 8 p.m. in Quirk Auditorium on the EMU campus, Ypsilanti.

Livonia students featured are Donald Matthews, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Matthews, 31160 Puritan, who plays Constable Warren, the town sheriff, and Ron Wlodarczyk, son of Mr. Edward Wlodarczyk, 9783 Houghton, who plays Sam Craig, a businessman who leaves town.

Plymouth cast members are Dennis Cockrum, son of Mr. and Mrs. Denver Cockrum, 8348 N. Territorial Road, who plays Doc Gibbs, and Sue DeWalt, daughter of Mrs. Patricia DeWalt, 8309 Do Lane, who plays Emily Webb.

"Our Town" is the story of life in a small, picturesque New Hampshire town. Its elements of humor and tragedy are portrayed by a 22-member cast. A narrator, in the drama, helps the audience understand these elements by talking directly to it.

DONALD BROWN

Monogamy alive and well

Despite a "general liberalness" in our sexual attitudes, a University of Michigan-Dearborn (UM-D) counselor contends that monogamy is alive and well.

Donald Brown of Plymouth, who heads up UM-D's counseling program, terms sexual behavior as "evolutionary and not revolutionary."

"If you take a look, you'll find that most people still think of sexuality or love as a part of their sex lives and not as a detached emotion," Brown said.

"Still, a great number of persons see marriage as a means of having a long-term relationship."

"If our sexual attitudes are revolutionary, it's in our general liberalness in attitude and range of behavior."

"We're seeing an increase in pre-marital and extra-marital sex as the divorce rate increases."

"But I think we'll be seeing a swing away from group sex and mate swapping. That really hasn't worked out too well."

"I think mate swapping is innately contrary to a human basic quality of monogamy."

"PEOPLE FEEL they need a strong family relationship to survive external social pressures. As the jungle becomes increasingly harder to cope with, people seem to think they need someplace to go where they can heal their wounds."

Brown sees a greater need for more sexual counseling at all levels of life.

"I think the general interest in sexuality is increasing because we now see it as an important part of our lives. We tended to ignore our sexuality and as a result, people have a great many problems they're unwilling to talk about."

"PART OF his work has been to propote workshops dealing with sex counseling to teachers, doctors, nurses and psychologists."

"We've had very little formal education in sexuality and it's only been in the last decade that medical schools have addressed themselves to the subject."

"As counselors we must become desensitized so that we can talk about and listen to people with sexual problems," Brown said. The only significant research we have been done by the Kinsey Institute and by Masters and Johnson. "If talking about sex embarrasses you, you're not going to be able to do a good job. We're going to have to work through these kinds of problems."

"Brown's own special area of study is homosexuality, and, as part of his work, he has been introducing medical doctors to homosexuals at meetings."

"For the first time doctors are seeing homosexuals as people and not some kind of bizarre freak."

Brown says he expects to see more pre-marital sex if only because society asks its members to delay sexual relations five to 10 years past a person's sexual peak.

"In primitive societies people were paired off when they were very young. Even during our pioneer days, people married at an early age," Brown says.

"But now with someone going to college for a doctoral degree we're asking him to repress his feeling for five or 10 years. That has to be a bit unfair because a male reaches his sexual peak by the age of 18."

"With the development of the pill people are going to be able to act in a freer manner which will also contribute to more sexual activity."

AND BROWN also expects people to take up living together in greater numbers.

"While it doesn't bother me personally, I can see where people could be upset by it," he said.

Despite some claims that living together is just like marriage, Brown sees co-habitation as different than marriage.

"In marriage families become involved. Whether you like it or not, you're marrying into a family, and the issues of money and children also enter into the picture."

Brown also feels that society doesn't do a good job of preparing people to select a mate.

"If you put an equal number of males and females in Tiger Stadium and drew lots, you'd be as successful as society is in selecting a mate."

"It's an evolutionary thing that romance must play a part in courtship. It's a failure of society that people can't adjust to another person."

"If we weren't so rigid, we'd be able to live with anyone successfully."

Despite Brown's interest in sexual counseling, he said most students he sees at UM-D come to him for vocational counseling.

HE also believes that public schools will shy away from the issue of promoting sexual counseling.

"This is nothing new," Brown said. "I used to teach in Northville years ago and even then there were cases of girls with problem pregnancies. I don't think school boards want to get involved."

"When we slated a sex counseling workshop a few months ago, we sent out information to just about every high school in the state."

"I don't think we got more than 10 responses, but we had a flood of mail from the clergy, social service and medical professions."

New math or old?

Schools take practical approach

By MARILYN FITCHETT

In the mathematics battle, traditional math apparently has scored a technical knockout over modern math.

A survey of area school districts shows educators abandoning such modern math practices as set theory and returning to more practical or consumer mathematics.

Chief criticism of modern math, which was adopted in 1965, is that it tends to deal in theory and shies away from arithmetic skills. It stresses concepts about numbers before teaching what to do with them.

CHARLES ZOET, a math and science coordinator for Livonia School District, feels modern math is still being taught but "it is appearing in a different set of clothes."

"We're now looking at modern math theory as enrichment courses for gifted students," Zoet says.

"Over the past few years, modern math has been clarified for younger students; stressing application and not abstraction because the students didn't really pick up the ideas of modern math."

"The abstractions were presented in isolation, and so the children had problems with application."

"There's now an increased recognition that kids need to be able to add and must memorize multiplication tables."

Central to the Livonia math program is what Zoet calls consumer math.

"A student should be able to figure out interest, discounts and installment payments, and it takes the four basic functions of math to be able to do this."

RONALD GRANT, a Garden City School District curriculum assistant, has no objection to modern math per se, but he says it's too time consuming for the average student.

"I think everyone's begun to realize that modern math, in itself, didn't meet the needs of the bulk of the students," Grant says.

"We still feel our students need the basics—they need know percentages and fractions."

"Such things as set theory and concept as opposed to basic math computation are very good in themselves. But it's a long haul for some kids and it's very time-consuming."

ACCORDING to Dr. Jan Jacobs, assistant superintendent of South Redford schools, the failure of modern math lies in its inability to recognize individual differences in students.

"Modern math appealed to the student who was able to conceptualize and deal in the abstract," he says. "It created problems for students who couldn't."

"By modifying modern math and adding concrete math exercises such as multiplying and adding, we can satisfy the needs of the individual students."

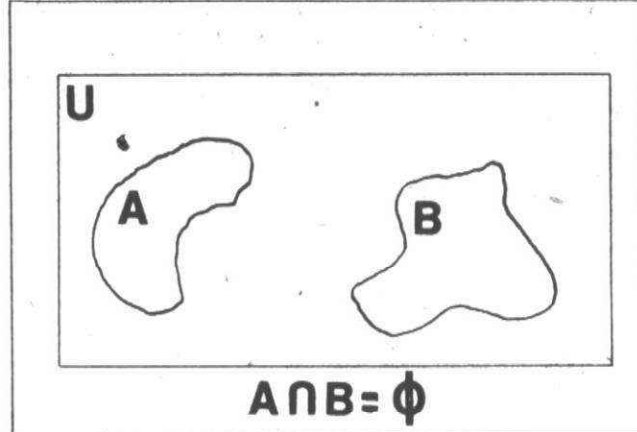

DR. KENNETH ERICKSON of Redford Union schools, says the problem with the new math is that it was developed by mathematicians instead of educators.

"Mathematicians felt there wasn't enough of a theoretical basis for total math systems. But a total modern math program neglected computational skills," Erickson says.

"Modern math is excellent for students well-versed in math to begin with and who want to make a career of it. For those who aren't, we should be concerned that they will be able to balance checkbooks and figure out mortgages."

WHILE math consultant Sally Ross of Wayne-Westland schools agreed that modern math downplayed arithmetic skills, she feels the philosophy of the new math has not been dropped.

"To an extent we're still working with set theory and students are handling concepts as well as skills."

SET THEORY, which was one of the highlights of new math, is fading from the math picture today. In this Venn diagram, the intersection of Set A and Set B equals the null set (nothing), in other words, the two sets do not overlap.

"Parent have become more knowledgeable about modern math and are more aware of the vocabulary used today. What they learned"

She also feels that with a return of arithmetic, parents will feel more at home helping their children with their homework.

"Parents have become more knowledgeable about modern math and are more aware of the vocabulary used today. What they learned as 'borrowing' is called 'renaming' today, but the process is the same."

CARL TAYLOR principal of East Middle School in Plymouth, recently sat on a committee which outlined Plymouth's math goals.

"When the new math was adopted schools had three choices," Taylor says. "They could choose the far-out, abstract approach of modern math, a middle-of-the-road approach or they could continue with the traditional math."

"We chose the middle of the road and as a result, transition has been easy."

"We found modern math was great in abstracts but poor in calculations. What we did was sort through and keep what we thought was functional. Modern math tended to get away from the basics."

Since the introduction of modern math, Taylor says "set theory has gone by the wayside." But other new math concepts, such as the cumulative and distributive laws, "are still being pushed."

Most educators feel that the controversy between new math and traditional math has been placed on a stand-by basis until textbook publishers finish producing metric editions.

ANOTHER ISSUE which is "muddying the waters" is the use of the pocket calculators by elementary school students.

Livonia's Zoet questions how skilled children will need to be in addition, and multiplication, with calculators so readily available.

"No one really knows what today's students will need by the time they become adults," he says.

"Calculators can do arithmetic more effectively than people can do it in their heads."

"I think you'll see a shifting emphasis on what addition is all about, when to push the right button and how to check an answer on a calculator."

PLYMOUTH'S TAYLOR opposes the use of calculators in classrooms.

"I don't believe they belong in a classroom until a student gets to be a junior or a senior in high schools," Taylor says.

"There's enough basic work up to the eighth grade to keep students busy."

"They're a good tool for whole numbers but that's not where children are weak. They need to work on fractions and percentages."

As one educator said, "Ever since the beginning of time we've had to know how to add, multiply, subtract and divide."

With the swing back to more traditional math, these skills apparently won't become extinct.

$\begin{array}{r} 426 \\ + 753 \\ \hline 1179 \end{array}$	$\begin{array}{r} 426 \\ + 753 \\ \hline 1401 \end{array}$
10	8

ONE OF THE MANY curves which were thrown at parents when modern math was developed was the introduction of different number bases. At left is an addition problem in Base 10, our every-day number system. There's a bit of difference when Base 8 (at right) is used!

Another Hiroshima?

U-M prof predicts decade of disasters

For perhaps the first time in history, society has caught up to technological advances and may have even exceeded them, and according to one biophysicist, the result may be an oil war, famine and nuclear terrorism.

In a recent lecture at the University of Michigan-Dearborn, John Platt, professor of biophysics and associate director of the Mental Health Research at the university's Ann Arbor campus, believes we have reached a "technological plateau."

Describing the changes of the past few decades as comparable to "10 industrial revolutions and protestant reformations all rolled into one," Platt says we have reached the "saturation point" in most technological areas.

"WE NOW HAVE weapons amounting to 15 tons per person," Platt says. "You can't be deadlier than dead, so it doesn't matter if we have 15 or 15,000 tons of weapons."

He describes the United States as being at the "shock front," which can be measured by what he calls watersheds, or reversals of social norms.

Using New York Times headlines as his watershed index, Platt has identified 40 areas of social reversal in the past six years.

These include new laws such as no-fault divorce and no-fault auto insurance which replaced laws "which never should have been on the books in the first place."

On the international scene, Platt points to such changes as detente, use of an international monetary system and the blocking of the supersonic transport system.

"THESE TURNAROUNDS are easy to accomplish in a land where there are a lot of televisions and good systems of education. The difficulty comes in getting 150 nations to agree to the changes," he says.

And because we will not be able to resolve this difficulty, Platt is predicting a decade of disasters.

"We're likely to have mega-famine or a series of them in which one million people will die because of our inability to ship and stockpile enough food," he says.

"An oil war looks less likely now but both Syria and Israel have talked about war in May."

NUCLEAR TERRORISM may also be in our future.

"Six countries have openly announced they have nuclear weapons. In the next few years 20 countries will probably have them."

"This will pave the way for someone to steal, pass under the table or give nuclear secrets to terrorists who will use them as a grenade in a crowded pub for the purpose of newspaper publicity."

Platt is predicting another Hiroshima for the end of the '70s.

"This is likely to occur in Tel Aviv or New York and would serve as a kind of Pearl Harbor for the world—that we have to do something about justice for countries which have been excluded from jobs, food and hope."

Revolutions, similar to the Maoist revolution, should be cropping up in Asia, Africa and South America, according to Platt.

"YOU'LL BE SEEING a revolution of land reform and agricultural communes—something to lift these nations up by the bootstraps and out of the reach of poverty."

Platt sees the world as in a race between construction and destruction and adds that if impending crises are viewed as being catalysts for solution of world problems, then survival is still a possibility.

"If disasters can be postponed, we could have the beginnings of an energy program, an ocean management program and the beginnings of world food stockpiles and peace-keeping methods."

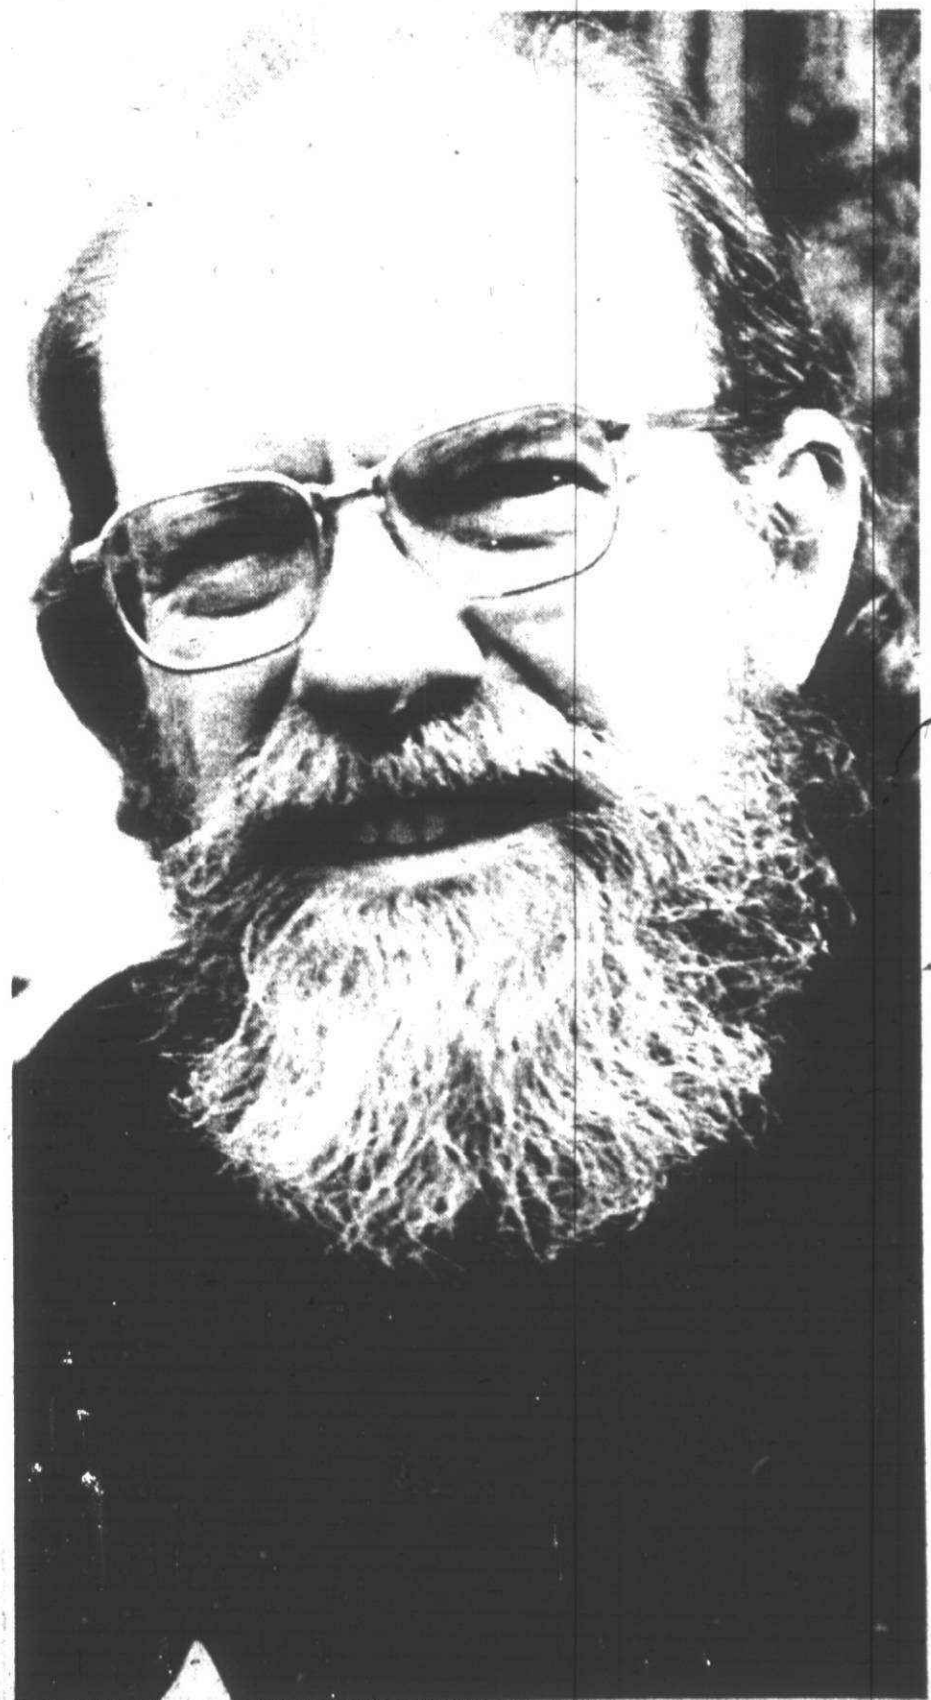

THE FUTURE beyond the year 2000 is impossible to predict, Platt says, but he is optimistic.

"For the first time in history we've been able to think about the possibility of existing in the next century," he says. "What we need are catalytic crises which are big enough to demand attention but not totally destructive. We must begin thinking about possible crises and see what we can do to avert them."

Platt has authored articles on world future which have appeared in "Harper's," "Science," "Saturday Review" and "The New Republic." He is a former Guggenheim Fellow at the University of London and a former fellow at the Center for Advanced Study in the Behavioral Sciences at Stanford University.

Dems give blood in local effort

MICHAEL S. ELZERMAN of Northville has been named a vice president of Michigan National Bank Metro, Livonia. A graduate of Hope College in Holland, Mich., he earned a masters degree from Western Michigan University. Before joining West Metro, he was with Michigan National Bank of Detroit with experience in branch management and credit analysis.

Members of the Wayne 2nd District Democratic Party recently donated 33 pints of blood to the American Red Cross. They participated in a blood drive in Faith Lutheran Church, 30000 Five Mile, Livonia.

"There was a feeling among some Democrats that because we've 'spilled' so much blood at the polls the past few years, that we certainly could give some blood to the Red Cross," quipped Alan Helmkamp, bloodbank chairman.

Donors included district chairman Marvin Stempien; Livonia Councilman Jerry Raymond; Schoolcraft College trustees Nancy Blatt, Rosina Raymond; and Bernie Ryan, of the State Democratic Party.

Part of the group's community efforts are plans to establish a "Help-Your-Neighbor" hotline to assist people in emergencies, and senior citizen and handicapped programs.

THOMAS L. SMITH of Livonia is an original. He's the first person in the country to receive a double rebate from the Ford Motor Co. The checks Smith received were among the first 50 delivered in the country, the first in the metropolitan area and the first in Livonia. Smith (right) recently purchased two Mavericks from Barney Johnson (left) at Bill Brown Ford in Livonia. The Ford rebate program was scheduled to continue through Feb. 28.

WILLIAM B. BYRD of Plymouth has been appointed industrial relations manager of Sales Group, Ford North American Automotive Operations. He has been personnel and organization manager for Lincoln-Mercury Division since 1967 and joined Ford as a systems and procedures analyst in 1948. He was born in Little Rock, Ark., in 1918 and has a degree in accounting from the University of Tennessee.

Esch named arts trustee

U.S. Rep. Marvin L. Esch (R-Ann Arbor) has been appointed to the board of trustees of the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts in Washington, DC, by House Speaker Carl Albert.

Esch, whose 2nd District includes Livonia and Plymouth, will assume his duties, which include responsibility for oversight of the center's cultural activities, immediately.

The appointment comes in recognition of Esch's years of support and interest in the arts and humanities, says Albert, and for his work in rewriting and expanding the work of the National Endowment for the Arts and Humanities which annually contributes millions of dollars to cultural activities in the U.S.

Esch, in accepting the appointment, expressed appreciation for the high standard of excellence in the performing arts which the Kennedy complex has provided. Recently the center hosted the Detroit Symphony Orchestra and the Wayne State University Choir.

Amtrak gets on new rail

Amtrak and the State of Michigan have announced jointly the beginning of a new rail service—The Michigan Executive—between Detroit and Jackson.

The new service, which began Jan. 20, will take over weekday passenger operations from the Penn Central Transportation Co.

Made possible with a state subsidy, Department of State Highways and Transportation officials have budgeted $70,000 to cover Michigan's two-thirds share of anticipated operating losses over the next year.

Scheduled to handle business as well as personal travel, the Michigan Executive will leave Jackson Monday through Friday, except holidays, at 6:15 a.m., with stops in Chelsea at 6:40 a.m.; Ann Arbor, 7 a.m.; and Ypsilanti, 7:10 a.m., before arriving in Detroit at 7:50 a.m.

SHIRLEY JERDEN checks through Observer & Eccentric want ads in her search for a job. She has been laid off a month. (Staff photo by Art Emanuel)

By MARGARET MILLER

"My house is clean—all the cupboards and closets too. And here I sit."

The speaker is Westland divorcee Shirley Jerden. And while she sits, with her subdivision ranch home indeed in apple-pie order, she does a lot of checking through help-wanted columns of any newspaper she can find.

On Jan. 24, Mrs. Jerden was laid off from a job she had held for three years. She has now picked up her first check from the Michigan Employment Security Commission office in Plymouth, and she's afraid the $77 she gets every two weeks won't go very far toward meeting the bills for herself and her high school sophomore son, Mitchell.

"There's the house payment," she said, counting off the places the money must go, "and the gas and the electricity and the telephone. And then you have to eat."

SHIRLEY JERDEN has been working as a secretary in the purchasing department of Milford Fabricating Co. in Detroit, a subsidiary of the Budd Co.

She had been on sick leave following surgery in the summer, and then there was two-week layoff at Christmas time, so she had plenty of time to get her house well cleaned.

During the holiday "vacation" she and Mitch and another son, William, who has nearly completed a self-financed four years at Northern Michigan University, were offered a ride south, so they visited Mrs. Jerden's mother and sister in North Carolina.

She came back with spring house-cleaning done early and ready for some steady work. But it didn't quite work out that way.

"I'VE BEEN LIVING on my savings so far," she said, "and last week my state income tax refund came and I had to cash that to keep going."

There had been some layoffs in the plant but not the office, Mrs. Jerden said, "and we rather thought another was coming, but you can't spend all your time worrying about it, so I didn't."

When pink slips went out the last week in January, though, this secretary with three years' seniority was one of the recipients.

"There are people with less service than I who are still there," she said.

"I think probably there was a directive to lay off some in each department."

SHE STILL IS LISTED as being on temporary layoff, Mrs. Jerden said, "and I've had a terrific letter from the company—it wanted all employees to know it's doing all it can to get us back."

"But I can't just sit here and wait," she added.

She has signed up at three employment agencies and sent out resumes to a lot of firms. She also pores over the want-ads (mostly employment agency ads there now, she says) and is making inquiries with everyone she knows.

Mitchell, at 15, hasn't had much luck with any kind of part-time work, but he did do a stand-in for his mother in the MESC lines on the first visit there.

"I have trouble with my feet when I stand too long," Mrs. Jerden said, "so I had to take him out of school for a day to help me wait in line."

THIS IS NOT the first encounter with unemployment for this Westland resident of 19 years.

After her divorce, she worked five years for Bob Leland Manufacturing in Redford Township.

"I really liked that job," she said. "I had the chance to do quite a bit of the actual purchasing. But the company went bankrupt."

It took her two months then to locate a new job," she said, "and that was in good times."

It is because her former husband also has been laid off since September and hasn't been able to make support payments that her unemployment check is at its $77 level, Mrs. Jerden said.

MRS. JERDEN said she was amazed to see the huge crowds in the Plymouth MESC office.

"Until then, I guess I hadn't realized how bad it is," she said.

Besides the financial worries, Mrs. Jerden has found being unemployed a boring proposition.

"You can't read all the time," she said, "and you can't go out much because you've no money to go places, and the car eats up gasoline."

"A friend took me to a YW craft class recently, and that was really fun to have someone different to talk to."

SHIRLEY JERDEN, of course, has plenty of company in her present situation.

The number of claims for benefits in Redford and Plymouth MESC offices is running in the thousands, and nearly every one carries its hardship and heartache.

There are men, for instance, like Earl Konkel of Livonia, who lost his job as a salesman in the food business the end of October.

His problems were complicated by the fact that he purchased an individual Blue Cross hospitalization policy after the layoff and learned too late it would not cover the hospitalization his wife has needed.

"It's bad enough making the house payment without a big hospital bill hanging over you," he said as he stood in line to collect his check in Plymouth.

How is he managing? "Well, you starve a little and you sponge a little," he said, ruefully.

DIE-MAKER Stanley Mostowy, also of Livonia, hasn't worked at his Chrysler Corp. job since December. "It's still called temporary layoff, though," he said.

Plymouth carpenter Dave Gutuskey has been off work since October. "Just no starts in the housing industry," he said. Connie Vatea, Livonian laid off Jan. 10 from her job at General Motors Corp. Fisher Body plant in Livonia, had gone two years since the last time off work.

Susan Purdy of Westland was grateful her husband still was on the job. "We're all right unless he gets laid off," she said.

IN THE REDFORD MESC office, Mark Snider and his wife, Terri, stood together to collect his benefit check. He was laid off by Nempco in Plymouth. Mrs. Snider wore a waitress uniform; she'd been able to find a job to tide them over.

Cheryl Watson of Redford Township, who has been collecting for nearly a year after losing a job as manager of a clothing store, reported that "I was in Florida, and they aren't hiring there, even in the tourist season."

One woman in the Redford office line found her position there quite normal.

"I work for an amusement park," she said. "I work seven days a week for six months and collect unemployment the other six. I've been doing it for years."

Lines, statistics paint unemployment picture

You know unemployment has increased tremendously in this area even before you look at the long lines in branch offices of the Michigan Employment Security Commission.

Or try to drive into their auto-clogged parking lots.

Or check statistics of claims filed in recent months.

But all these things serve to outline sharply the total picture—one that shows more people are out of work than have been in a long time.

Yet as effects of the turned-down economy linger in these suburbs, there seemed some not-so-grim features in the offices where people get jobless benefits.

Recently the Redford MESC office, located at 2444 W. Seven Mile, added a subsidiary office to cut the lines and processing time. This week the Plymouth branch has been able to follow suit.

These moves, coupled with increased efficiency of newly-hired claim processors have eased the situation.

"I THINK WE'RE over the hump," said George West, manager of the Redford branch.

West compared the number of claims filed—by residents of Redford Township, Livonia, Farmington, Farmington Hills—in single weeks of November, December, January and February last year and this year.

All showed sharp increases. There were 3,076 claims filed the week of Nov. 15, 1973, and 5,041 in the comparable week of 1974. For the second week of December, it was 4,223 in 1973 and 7,659 in 1975.

The difference of a year in the second week of January raised the totals from 5,930 in 1974 to 10,857, nearly double, in 1975. February figures show a jump from 8,637 for a week in 1974 to 12,011 in a very recent week.

COMPARISONS MADE in a different way for claims processed in the Plymouth branch—drawing people from Plymouth, Westland, Livonia—showed the same, not-surprising pattern.

That branch, in the four months from November of 1972 to February of 1973, processed 19,696 claims. A year later, for the same four months, the total was 34,364.

But in the four months just completed, incomplete records make it clear the claim load tops 53,000.

There are ups and downs in the weekly figures, particularly in the Plymouth office, that have to do with automobile plants in this area opening one week and closing the next.

Louis Belanger, Plymouth branch manager, said the new facilities would shorten lines and make claim processing quicker.

BUT EVEN while long lines wound around the desks in the two-MESC branches, the general atmosphere was one of patience and rueful cheer on the part of those in line and helpfulness from the workers behind the desks.

"Our staff has about doubled now," said Burns in the Redford office. He added that some of the new workers in the branch office "came from our files of those seeking jobs."

ANOTHER MESC office, this one located at 33274 W. Six Mile in Livonia, also plays a role in today's job picture in this area.

"This is the job placement office—we deal with employment rather than unemployment," said manager Tim Burns.

Opened six months ago, it keeps a complete file of all kinds of job openings in the metropolitan area and from all over Michigan and has equipment that can quickly show what is available for the particular worker who registers there.

Of some 700 persons who have listed their names there, Burns said, "about one in six are now employed."

The number of openings now listed is not as great as it was a few months ago, Burns said, and he hesitates to admit that "February has been a lousy month—only 12 placements."

BUT BURNS FEELS the outlook is generally more positive than that.

"There are jobs available," he said, "and it's our job to contact employers and find out where the work is. I feel things are working upward, slowly."

Applications in the placement office are accepted from all, and the hours are 8:15 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Burns added one more sidelight to the area's somewhat dark employment picture.

"I don't have figures to back this up," he said, "but it seems to me that three or four years ago, when I was helping newly-returned veterans find work, there were less listings than there are now."

"There wasn't as much publicity about it, but it seems to me things were tougher then. There are jobs now—I'm generally optimistic."

MORE ARE out of work; more are filling jobless claims. Staff photographer Bob Woodring snapped this scene in the Plymouth office of the MESC.

Women who would like to help less fortunate women—those serving long terms or life sentences in the Detroit House of Correction are being sought by the Livonia and Plymouth branches of the American Association of University Women.

The work has as qualifications only a genuine concern for others and a willingness to express concern constructively, said Luana Wakenhut of Plymouth, chairman of the twin projects for volunteers.

Training sessions for those who would like to work with lifers in the "Lifeliners" program or in "Step-Up" with women serving seven years or longer will begin March 5 in Pilgrim United Church of Christ, 36075 W. Seven Mile, Livonia.

The 8 p.m. sessions will continue March 12, 19 and 26.

Training will include information on how both programs work to provide lay counseling and one-to-one relationships with women prisoners plus helping serve as a link between the DeHoCo women and the public.

Panel discussions by volunteers and members of the institution staff also will be included in the four sessions, along with empathy training and a tour of the DeHoCo facilities.

Workshop participants are in no way obligated to apply as volunteers until after all sessions have been completed. Participation is open to women in the area, whether or not they are affiliated with AAUW.

It's 'Hello Dollie' for town hall season finale

Dollie Cole instead of James Beard will be the speaker for the finale, in the Livonia Town Hall 1974-75 lecture series.

The socialite in Detroit and world circles will speak Wednesday, March 19 at 10:30 a.m. in the Mai Kai Theater, Farmington and Plymouth Roads.

She also will answer questions the celebrity luncheon in the Mayflower Meeting House, Plymouth, after the theater talk.

Tickets for her talk will be available at the theater for $5 on the day of the lecture. Those who want to make luncheon reservations or change previously-made reservations may call Mrs. Carl L. Quist, 16942 Yorkshire, Livonia.

Beard, internationally-known food authority who was to have wound up the current Livonia series, had to cancel his appearance because of illness.

Mrs. Cole was engaged to replace him right after she returned from a trip to Saudi Arabia.

The wife of Edward Cole, retired president of General Motors Corp., has become a renowned personality in her own right during the last few years.

Active in health, education and community affairs, she has served on the boards of Project Hope and the Michigan Vocational Rehabilitation Service. She also has been a director of the Michigan Humane Society, Meyer Prentice Foundation, Michigan Cancer Foundation, International Institute and is a member of the Women's Association for the Detroit Symphony and the Cranbrook Art Academy.

She has written for several magazines, including Ladies Home Journal which recently nominated her as one of ten most important women of 1974, and Saturday Evening Post for which she serves as a senior editor. Mrs. Cole also has fit into her scheduled many television appearances, joining such stars as Mike Douglas, Jack Paar, Lou Gordon and Barbara Walters in video conversation.

She is a graduate of the University of Texas and has a degree from Missouri Valley College.

Center schedules women's sessions

"Educating Today's Woman for Tomorrow's Opportunities" will be the topic of the first of four March feedback sessions to be sponsored by the Women's Resource Center of Schoolcraft College.

To take place from 7-9 p.m. March 4 in Room 370 of the Forum building, the class will be led by Barbara Bargo, chairperson of the center's education committee.

It will be devoted to an evaluation of a person's skills and interests, and how to utilize them in the most effective ways.

Other feedback sessions will be held on March 11, 18 and 25.

Robert Marx, Livonia Churchill High School counselor, will speak on "GED, What Can High School Equivalency Do For You?" March 11. Chief examiner for GED testing in Livonia School District, Marx will explain what the test involves, and help persons determine whether they should take a refresher course before taking the test.

Four successful working women will comprise a panel presentation on March 18 to be called "Realities of the Working Woman's World."

Speakers will be Frieda Rutherford, an employment agency counselor, and Judy Berg, counselor with the Michigan Employment Securities Commission.

Also on the panel are Peg Smith, who works in public relations, and Darin Otis a boutique shop employee. Sharon Cerne will be chairperson.

The final session, March 25, will be conducted by the Rev. James Liefeld, pastor of Living Lord Lutheran Church, Novi. It will be devoted "to improving communications with each other and with our children."

Feedback sessions are free and no advanced registration is required.

Auxiliary gala

FABRIC FLOWERS in bright array will decorate Raleigh House in Southfield Tuesday, March 4 when the Wayne County Osteopathic Association auxiliary puts on its "Fashion Scope '75," a luncheon showing of spring styles. The event, to include fashions from B. Siegel and commentary from Mary Morgan, is part of the auxiliary's annual drive to raise funds for scholarships.

Finishing the flower decorations are Mrs.

James J. O'Day (left) of Plymouth, Mrs. Edward Loniewski, Redford resident and auxiliary president, and Mrs. Donald Blem of Detroit. Other area members are Mrs. Kenneth Stoinoff of Livonia and Mrs. Adam Frent of Westland.

Tickets are $8 and should be ordered by Feb. 28 from Mrs. O'Day, 44420 Charnwood, Plymouth. (Staff photo).

Holy Cross is setting for vows

Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Earl Erickson are living in East Lansing and continuing studies at Michigan State University following their recent marriage in Holy Cross Lutheran Church of Livonia.

Mrs. Erickson is the former Laura Denise Berger, daughter of Edward J. Berger of Milford, formerly of Livonia. Her husband's parents are Dr. and Mrs. Earl Erickson of Okemos.

The Rev. William Lindhout officiated, and Barbara Teachout was organist and soloist. Nancy Hanlon played the guitar.

The bride wore a white quiana gown with hooded cape and pearl scroll design. She carried white roses and apricot and white rose buds with baby's breath.

Her attendants were Janine Hand-ysides as matron of honor and Julie Erickson, sister of the bridegroom, and Karen Ludwig as bridesmaids.

They wore hooded quiana dresses in apricot and carried apricot-tinted carnations and baby's breath.

Flower girl Jennifer Hanlon had an off-white dress lined in apricot and carried a bouquet of rosebuds.

Assisting the bridegroom were Anthony Marinaro as best man and, as ushers, Steven Berger, brother of the bride, and James Freud, brother-in-law of the bridegroom.

The reception was held in Raleigh House in Southfield and the couple honeymooned in Toronto.

At Michigan State, the new Mrs. Erickson is majoring in special education and her husband in social work.

Osteopaths to give ball

The sixth annual Michigan Osteopathic College Foundation Ball will be held Saturday, March 1 in the Troy Hilton Inn.

Proceeds will benefit the college of osteopathic medicine of Michigan State University.

Mrs. Nicholas Sellas and Mrs. William Herbold of Plymouth and Mrs. J.F. Meeker of Livonia are members of the committee planning the event.

The MSU college of osteopathic medicine entered its first class of 20 students in 1969. Eighty-five students entered in 1974. A survey of the first two graduating classes showed that 82 per cent of the graduates remained in the state.

Presbyterians pick moderator

Walter R. Greene, vice president and director of urban affairs at the National Bank of Detroit, has been elected moderator for the 11 Presbyterian churches which comprise the Presbytery of Detroit.

As moderator, Greene serves as head of the 78,000-member presbytery, which includes churches extending from the Port Huron area to west and south of Ann Arbor.

He will also preside over the presbytery council, which is the coordinating body for the presbytery, and serve as lay spiritual leader for 1975.

Greene has served the church as a member of its general assembly committee on nominations, and is a member of the board of McCormick Theological Seminary, Chicago, and of Alma College, Alma.

Greene participated in the assembly of the World Council of Churches held in Sweden in 1968. During the administration of Roman S. Gribbs, he was deputy mayor of Detroit. He has a wife and two children.

Church council picks woman

For the first time in its 55-year history, the Metropolitan Council of Churches has chosen a woman as its president.

Elizabeth Redecker, prominent United Methodist lay person from Royal Oak, was recently selected to be the 29th president of the council.

Her main job will be to give leadership to the board of directors, to the annual assemblies of representatives from about 1,000 churches in the area, and to program units through which the council serves its constituency and community.

Mrs. Redecker has long been active in Church Women United and in the Metropolitan Council of Churches as a delegate from the United Methodist Church.

She has also been a representative from her denomination to the Michigan Council of Churches and to the Detroit Conference of United Methodist Women.

THE GREAT AMERICAN BICENTENNIAL SPOON SALE

Save $250 or more and get a true bicentennial collectors' set worth $39.95 for just $12.50.

200 years ago the early American colonists knew all about the virtues of thrift. And they knew a good bargain when they saw one. Too bad they're not here for our "Great American Bicentennial Spoon Sale."

But you are. Just open a savings account of $250.00 or more—or, if you already have a savings account with us, add $250.00 or more to your present balance. Then take advantage of a super price reduction on a beautiful set of 13 pewter spoons, each with an authentic seal of one of the original 13 colonies. The set—a $39.95 value—is made by the craftsmen of the International Silver Company and comes complete with a handsome display rack of genuine oak. Best of all, it's yours for just $12.50.

Should you need more encouragement, remember that we offer the highest bank interest in town on regular savings. An effective annual yield of 5.2% to be exact. You see, we compound interest on our regular 5% savings continuously—not quarterly, or even daily like ordinary banks. We also offer a wide array of time deposit accounts which yield from 5 1/2 % interest for 90-day accounts... up to 7 1/2 % interest for 6-year accounts.*

This set of 13 great American spoons is a beautiful way to prepare your home for the bicentennial. And our saving plans are good common sense ways to prepare for the future.

See us soon and take advantage of the "Great American Bicentennial Spoon Sale." After all, offers like this only happen once in 200 years.

*Federal law and regulation prohibit the payment of a time deposit prior to maturity unless three months of the interest thereon is forfeited and interest on the amount withdrawn is reduced to passbook rate.
